Marin Couple Found Slain In Isolated Farm House

Rancher, Wife Shot; Their Auto Missing

A dairy farm couple were found murdered in their bed today in their remote home about half a mile off San Antonio Road near the Marin-Sonoma County line.

Marin sheriff's officers issued an all-points bulletin for the missing car of the victims, Everett Fred Zimmerman, about 56, and his wife, Margaret Jean, about 50.

The vehicle is a 1959 wine-colored, two-door Chevrolet bearing California license EDC 701.

The sheriff's office received report of the killing about 11 a.m. from Betty Davidson, wife of the Zimmerman's hired man. It was not learned immediately who discovered the bodies, both clad in their nightclothes, lying on their double bed.

Both were shot through the head. No weapon was found, leading to officers' belief that the case was a double murder.

An unidentified 9-year-old girl, believed to be the daughter of a neighbor, had spent the night with the Zimmermans, officers said. She said she heard a noise during the night, but thought it was Zimmerman arising as usual at 5:30 a.m. to milk the cows.

The house at 1295 San Antonio Road, is remote, half-hidden by trees and other shrubbery.

Three dogs chained in the yard apparently were not alarmed by the slayer, since no barking was reportedly heard by either the Davidsons—who reside in a small green house about one-eighth of a mile from the Zimmerman house—or the girl.

Officers said the Zimmerman

STRIKE MATERIALIZED—A doctor checks the chart on an empty bed at San Francisco General Hospital. City-operated hospitals became practically empty today when nurses took sick leave, initiating the nation's first nurses strike. (UPI Telephoto)

Sick Call Walkout Staged By San Francisco Nurses

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Nurses struck three San Francisco city hospitals today in the nation's first major walkout by hospital nurses.

The entire morning shift — with exception of supervisory personnel —'phoned in sick" at San Francisco General Hospital, leaving the huge facility with only a skeleton staff of 35 head and supervising nurses.

Miss Irene Pope, Director of nurses at General and a leader in the walkout, said 148 of the hospital's 360 nurses had called in sick, and more calls were coming in. She said no staff nurses showed up for the morning shift.

The two other hospitals involved are Laguna Honda and Hassler Health home. Forty-two of Laguna Honda's 140 nurses did not show up for the morning shift, which usually numbers 60 nurses.

The nurses voted 311 to 162 yesterday to reject a last-minute offer by the city to grant them retroactive pay increases next July. The nurses want immediate pay boosts to maintain their traditional 15 per cent differential over nurses employed by private hospitals.

The differential was wiped out last month when about 2,000 private hospital nurses were granted increases averaging $60 a month.

"This is a real revolution," said Mrs. Diane Gunderson, one of 48 nurses who turned up at San Francisco General Hospital to stand by "for emergencies only."

"Finally the nurses stood up and did something," she said.

Less seriously ill patients were being removed to nursing homes and private hospitals. At General Hospital it was planned to cut the normal patient load in half.

The nurses began calling in sick a few hours after a marathon session ended between Mayor John F. Shelley and nurses' representatives.

The mayor said he planned to declare "an emergency" and meet later with county supervisors to begin work on appropriating funds to meet the nurses demands.

"I have no idea whether it will be a short strike," he said. "I certainly hope so."

Hallways at San Francisco General Hospital, the city's largest all-purpose facility, seemed deserted for the morning shift. Outside the rambling red brick complex, buses and ambulances were lined up to evacuate patients.

Father G. J. Fader, Catholic chaplain at the hospital, told newsmen he had been up all night talking to patients. "they are all for the nurses," he said.

The striking nurses can be suspended if they miss more than three days unless for a real illness or good reason. When absent with no excuse, they can be docked a full day's pay.

General Talks Peace On Cambodian Arrival

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (UPI) —President Charles de Gaulle of France arrived today in Cambodia with an appeal for peace in Asia and the world. His mission was to try to end the war in Viet Nam and he planned to meet with a representative of the Communist Hanoi regime.

A massive security guard was mounted to assure his safety as Cambodian Chief of State Prince Norodom Sihanouk warned that four groups of Cambodian rebels had left their bases in neighboring Thailand to try to sabotage the De Gaulle visit.

De Gaulle spoke in diplomatic generalities on his arrival but in a major speech later this week is expected to make an open appeal for a negotiated end to the war in Viet Nam and to ask for the withdrawal of U.S. troops as a first step.

Addressing Prince Sihanouk standing alongside him, De Gaulle said Cambodia —which borders Viet Nam —is "in the middle of a drama which can bring the world to the worst disaster." He said they would discuss their common interest — "peace in Asia and consequently peace in the world."

A well-informed source said De Gaulle would probably meet tomorrow with Nguyen Troung, newly appointed diplomatic "representative" of the Hanoi regime in Cambodia.

Speaking in French, Sihanouk described the visitor from Paris as "one of the greatest men of our times."

De Gaulle will make a major appeal for peace in neighboring Viet Nam later this week.

he also was expected to praise the "neutrality" of Sihanouk, who severed diplomatic relations with the United States 15 months ago. The pronouncement on Viet Nam was expected Thursday in a speech at the 80,000-seat Phnom Penh city stadium.

For security reasons, a concrete pavilion was constructed at the airport for the welcoming ceremonies. All windows and rooftops passed by De Gaulle's motorcade into the city were guarded by police. Even the pumps of service stations along the motorcade route were emptied of gasoline as a precaution against terrorists.

Rain Brings Winter Look

Rain began falling shortly before noon today, giving Marin County that washed-out, gray look usually associated with winter.

It sent shoppers scurrying for shelter, cancelled trips to the sea, and made motorists wary of hitting the brake pedal too hard on rain-slick roads.

Today's was the first sustained rain since June 7 when .05 was measured in San Rafael. A trace fell earlier this month during a freak lightning storm.

Supervisors Protest State Parks Plan To Buy Tamalpais Lands

Marin County supervisors today protested use of the state $4 million in park bond money to purchase land for Tamalpais State Park from Marin Municipal Water District.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said he had it "on good authority" that the State Division of Beaches and Parks intends to purchase some of the water district's land.

He said this would be "nothing less than a calamity," pointing out that the water district land is already in the public domain and that the state money is needed for purchase of private land, such as the Brazil ranch.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss said the water district board should be consulted before the supervisors took a stand, but Behr said the district has known about the pending negotiation and has not called it to supervisors' attention.

The supervisors' protest will be presented at the Sept. 16 meeting of the state park commission in San Simeon.

U.S. Won't Quit, LBJ Tells Vets

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson today re-emphasized the nation's military commitment to stay in viet Nam until there is a "final surrender of violence itself."

The President told the 48th annual American Legion national convention that "those of you who have borne arms for our country know that an armistice can end the fighting without ending the war."

The President said the American aim in Asia is to root out the very causes of war —"the poverty of man's body, the privation of his spirit, the imprisonment of his liberties."

"The vast sums we spend to stop aggression could, when the aggression is ended, become the means of reconciliation and reconstruction," the President said.

"This commitment, in my view, is wholly consistent with that genuine patriotism that places love of country foremost in world affairs."

Johnson told the Legionnaires: "You seek the common dream of those who have risked the hell of war: Peace among the nations of the earth.

"I know that in some quarters today patriotism is regarded with puzzlement or disdain. Patriotism too often means patrioteering. It means concealing a world of error and wrong judgement beneath the flag."

41 Residents File To Form New City

A group of Strawberry residents yesterday spurned both their suitors—the cities of Mill Valley and Tiburon—and filed notice of intention to petition for incorporation of a new city.

The proposed new city would have the same boundaries as the present Strawberry Recreation District.

Both Mill Valley and Tiburon have been moving to annex the unincorporated area between them, but the notice signed by 41 residents may stymie both efforts. Neither city has yet filed its annexation request with the Local Agency Formation Commission.

The rush to grab Strawberry started Aug. 22 when Tiburon City Council voted to start action to annex all unincorporated areas of Tiburon Peninsula. The council moved after learning that Mill Valley City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer had written Strawberry property owners asking permission to annex their land.

Attorney Stephen H. Kaufmann, who represents both the Strawberry Recreation District and the 41 residents, said yesterday that "no one I have spoken to wants to go into Mill Valley. All they (Mill Valley) wants is taxes." He said he could not comment about the feelings of the residents about annexation to Tiburon.

Before residents of the proposed city may vote on incorporation, the proposal must be approved by the local agency commission, petitioned by 25 per cent of the registered voters in the proposed city and owners of more than 25 per cent of the assessed valuation of property.

Property owners representing more than 50 per cent of the assessed valuation may block the incorporation by filing protest.

Boundaries of the proposed city are Saucelito Canal on the south, Highway 101 on the west, Tiburon Boulevard on the north, and the Salt Works Canal on the east.

A similar incorporation proposal, to make a city of the Alto-Richardson Bay Fire District, was rejected by LAFC in March, 1965.

Kaufmann said the proposal was spontaneous reaction to reports that Mill Valley and Tiburon would annex the area.

"In my opinion," he said, "Tiburon and Mill Valley have

Courthouse Financing Suggested

Consultants today recommended creation of a parking authority to finance construction of an underground parking lot in connection with commercial development of the courthouse block in downtown San Rafael.

Stone and Youngberg concluded in a long-awaited $5,000 report that it would cost a private developer $678,900 to provide the necessary parking. This requirement would probably mean the county would not get the $942,000 from sale of the site estimated earlier by consultants Marshall and Stevens.

Prior to sale, Stone and Youngberg recommend that the county sell the subsurface rights to the City of San Rafael for $1, and the city, through a parking authority, finance construction of the underground parking lot. The South side of the block would probably remain as open area, according to all proposals considered so far.

Money from sale of the block is needed to complete financing of the county Hall of Justice now under construction.

Multiple Pileups Snarl 101

Up to 25 cars were involved in a series of three pile-ups shortly before noon today in northbound lanes of Highway 101 at the California Park overpass approaching San Rafael.

Only person injured badly enough to be sent to hospital by ambulance was identified as Sandra Dudek, a passenger in one of three cars involved in the third accident.

The pileup started about 11:30 a.m., during an unexpected rainstorm. First car involved reportedly was a Volvo which was abandoned by the driver before California Highway Patrol officers arrived. Other cars piled into it until about 18 were involved—some being badly smashed.

Nearly a half hour later, with the highway still cluttered from the first chain wreck, two cars

Reports Say Sneak Cong Raid Snares Two Americans

SAIGON (UPI) —U.S. officials disclosed today Viet Cong raiders captured two Americans recently. They said an Communist assassination team had been offered a bounty to kill high ranking American and Vietnamese officials.

A small force of Viet Cong tonight attacked a Government outpost only four miles from the heart of Saigon. U.S. planes carrying flares and guns went into action immediately, pumping fire at the Communists. The flash of gunfire lit the skies and the sound of bombs rocked Saigon.

The American sources said the Viet Cong assassination campaign was part of a widespread effort to try to disrupt the South Vietnamese elections set for Sept. 11. There have been a series of bomb outrages and an attack early today on a Viet Cong defectors camp.

The sources said two American soldiers were captured by sneak Viet Cong raiders who crept through three companies of South Vietnamese troops in a lightning strike that had been kept secret for two weeks. Fate of the two soldiers was not known.

The intensified campaign to disrupt the Sept. 11 elections in South Viet Nam came as a U.S. military spokesmen reported the loss of a U.S. F105 Thunderchief jet and its pilot over North Viet Nam yesterday in another heavy air raid. It was the 347th plane lost in the north.

A Vietnamese spokesman said one terror squad all but leveled the Chieu Hoi Building at Tri Tam, about 38 miles northwest of Saigon, and that several persons were injured but none was killed. "Chieu Hoi" is the government's "open

FINAL MARIN TAX RATE UP 11 CENTS TO $2.295

Marin County's tax rate for fiscal 1967 was set at $2.295 per $100 assessed valuation today by 3-1 vote of the county board of supervisors.

This is up 11 cents from last year's rate. It applies to the entire county.

In unincorporated areas that are in the county library district and are not in any fire district, the county's rate will be much higher: $2.64 per $100 assessed valuation.

The board by the same vote set the county's structural fire tax rate—which does not apply in cities and fire districts—at 18 cents, up 10 cents from last year.

It set the county library tax rate at 16.5 cents, up a half cent.

Total raise for residents in the library district and outside of fire districts is thus 21.5 cents over last year.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen cast the dissenting vote, objecting to the 10-cent raise in the structural fire tax. Chairman Byron W. Leydecker, who also had opposed that hike, was absent.

In a separate action, the board set rates on special districts it controls and authorized tax rates of school districts. All these rates were as they have been reported in previous stories in the Independent-Journal.

Balloon Disaster Kills Skydiver

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Nick Piantanida, a daredevil skydiver whose goal in life was to break the world free-fall record, died last night in a Veteran's Administration hospital here from the effects of an ill-fated balloon ascent.

Piantanida

Piantanida, 33, suffered oxygen starvation when his pressure suit decompressed more than 10 miles above the Great Plains during an unsuccessful attempt on the record last May 1.

He never regained consciousness.

He had planned to ride the balloon's gondola to a height of more than 100,000 feet and jump overboard, falling nearly all the way to earth before opening his parachute.

But when he reached an altitude of 57,000 feet, something went wrong. His ground crew and his wife, Janice, listening on a two-way radio, heard him gasp, "emergency."

That was followed by a gush of air through the mouthpiece of his helmet and then silence.

The ground crew cut the gondola loose from the balloon by remote control, and doctors said Piantanida was without oxygen for at least three and one-half minutes during the descent to earth.

Scientists Try To Tame Faith

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — By late tonight, scientists hope to know whether it's possible to tame a mighty hurricane with furious, 120-mile-an-hour winds.

Hurricane Faith is the unsuspecting guinea pig.

Scientists attached to Project Stormfury planned to seed her with silver-iodide "smoke" today. Jets from the U.S. naval base at Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico, were to drop the silver iodide into the tempestuous wall of the eye.

The project—the world's first large-scale effort to make a hurricane's fury evaporate—was expected to take about 12 hours.

But Hurricane Faith hovered close to the test area boundary.

Scientists are not yet certain that strange things —perhaps even an intensification of the storm— might not result from seeding.

Bill To End Canadian Strike

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson has made his big move to end the nation's crippling rail strike. Now it's up to Parliament to act on the emergency legislation that could force 110,000 railway men back to work without a contract settlement.

Pearson, with the approval of all political parties in Parliament, yesterday introduced a bill that would send the striking workers back to work with an 8 per cent wage increase while union leaders and management resume contract negotiations.

The proposal was denounced as "no solution to the dispute" by union leaders, whose four-day strike against two trans-continental railways—the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific—and five smaller lines has paralyzed Canada's rail passenger and freight traffic, national telegraph and air express service and sharply curtailed ferry services in the maritime provinces.

Reagan Says He'll Never Back Kuchel

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Ronald Reagan said last night he would not give Sen. Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif. endorsement in 1968 even if Kuchel changes his mind before November and endorses Reagan for governor.

Asked by a reporter to explain his current relationship with Kuchel and review the 1962 GOP primary in which he supported a candidate to "oust" Kuchel, Reagan said he had given his name to a Kuchel opponent and was "happy to do so."

Reagan sidetracked a direct question on whether he would seek Kuchel's ouster in 1968, in the event he is elected governor in November. He did say, however, that he would not endorse all those who survive the primary in the general election.

In the interview, filmed prior to Reagan's announcement that he would no longer respond to questions related to asserted "right-wing" leanings, the Republican candidate again denied that he ever had or was seeking Birch Society support.

Di Giorgio Employees Vote Today On Unions

DELANO (AP) — The atmosphere was supercharged with controversy as Di Giorgio Corp. workers voted today in a crucial union representation election near Delano. At least 10 per cent of the early votes were challenged over identification.

Field workers began arriving in cars, buses and on foot as soon as the polls opened at 7 a.m. They will close at 10 p.m.

At the rate of about 75 per hour, workers filed into the bunk house at Di Giorgio's sprawling Sierra Vista ranch.

Inside were members of the American Arbitration Assn., and observers for the Teamsters Union and the AFL-CIO's United Farm Workers Organizing committee, and the company.

The ballots, printed in both Spanish and English, offered workers their choice of representation by either of the two unions or no union.

Interpreters helped those who had trouble with English. Most of the voting workers were Mexican Americans and Filipinos.

The ballots were placed in one of two padlocked drums to be taken to San Francisco by the highway patrol at the end of the voting period.

Laotian Flood

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—All commercial flights in and out of Vientiane were canceled today as the swollen Mekong River flooded the airport.

The U.S. Embassy put up sandbag dikes for protection, but mud levees held the water back from most of the downtown area.

The river was 39 feet above flood level and still rising, but Public Works Minister Ngon Sananikone was optimistic.

"If there is no more rain up north at Luang Prabang, the flood will start to subside tomorrow," he said.

Californians Sentenced For Hungarian Escapade

BUDAPEST (AP) — A Hungarian court today sentenced two young brothers from Van Nuys, Calif., to three months in prison for defacing a poster labeling the United States "murderers" in Viet Nam.

Michael Savko, 23, was found guilty of "attempting to instigate sedition." His 25-year-old brother, John, was convicted of being an accomplice.

Maximum penalty for conviction on the charge is eight years in prison.

The pair will have to spend one more month in prison. The three-man court ruled that the time spent in detention since their arrest June 30 would count towards their sentence.

The Savkos arrived in Budapest June 29. On the next night, shortly before they were due to leave for Yugoslavia, they were caught tampering with a poster in the downtown area.

The placard showed a U.S. Air Force plane flying over two terrified Vietnamese. A big caption at the bottom read "murderers." While his brother watched, Michael Savko changed the markings on the plane from "U. S." to "U.S.S.R."

Since their arrest the brothers have been seen in prison by U.S. Consul Clifford Gross.

According to court sources, the Savkos said in their pretrial statements that the whole thing had been meant as a joke and that they were unaware a law was being broken since in California it is not an offense to tamper with posters.

SAN RAFAEL LSD CHARGES DROPPED

Illegal Search By Police, Insufficient Evidence Free Four In Drug Charges

Charges against two men and two girls suspected of possessing marijuana and possibly LSD pills in a San Rafael apartment were dropped by the district attorney's office yesterday and the four were released.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Dufficy said today reasons for not issuing complaints were insufficient evidence and illegal search by San Rafael police.

Marin Municipal Court Judge Leonard A. Thomas ordered bail of Joyce Ellen Ferguson, 18, Judy Ann Chitwood, 19, Daniel Patric Phay, 20, and Arthur Danna Sharp, 21, exonerated.

The four were booked Sunday after police said they had found marijuana and pills—believed to be LSD——in an apartment at 1323 Lincoln Way, San Rafael.

Officers had gone there looking for William R. Erickson, 18, wanted on a warrant for grand theft issued by Fremont police. He was found hiding in a closet.

Dufficy said it was questionable whether police were justified to undertake a thorough search for drugs without a search warrant. "However, we are continuing the investigation and the case has not been closed," said Dufficy.

The four arrested said they lived in Los Angeles and San Jose and had been in Marin County about a week. Erickson had no fixed address.

San Diego Assessor Convicted For Fraud

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The former San Diego County Chief Deputy Assessor and two tax counselors, convicted yesterday on tax fraud charges, will seek new trials at a Sept. 19 probation and sentencing hearing.

A Superior Court jury, after weighing testimony given in the 3½-month-long trial, returned verdicts of guilty on six of 16 counts against former Chief Deputy Assessor John C. Cox, 46.

Convicted on one count of conspiracy to bribe the assessor's office to gain reduced taxes for their clients were tax counselors Homer Goehler, 77, of Portland, Ore., and Ralph Yeo, 67, of San Mateo.

Cox was found guilty on four counts of bribery and two counts of conspiracy to seek or receive bribes totaling $7,250 and a $5,000 Rolls-Royce automobile.

The three were allowed to remain free on bail. Cox faces a maximum sentence of 84 years in prison—14 years for each count. Goehler and Yeo could be confined up to 14 years each.

Evidence presented in the trial alleged that Cox, the late assessor John McQuilken and Donald James received $60,000 in bribes.

McQuilken, named in the indictment as a co-conspirator, died last Oct. 21 of an overdose of barbiturates. The coroner's office said he committed suicide.

More Surveillance Asked On Russian Fishing Fleet

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI) — Gov. Dan Evans today asked President Johnson to order increased surveillance of the Russian fishing fleet operating off the coasts of Washington and Oregon.

The governor's office sent a telegram to the President which said present surveillance is inadequate.

James Dolliver, the governor's administrative assistant, said reports indicate the surveillance of the Russian fleet has been "extremely poor."

He said there has only been limited surveillance during the day and "none to speak of" at night.

"Evidence indicates (that the Russians are) taking salmon commercially," the governor's telegram said.

Fisheries Director Thor C. Tollefson called on the governor's office for direct contact with the President because of a rash of new reports indicating the Russians are fishing inside a 12-mile limit they had agreed not to violate.

Tollefson said he was also in possession of signed affidavits from several charter boat operators who said gill net marked salmon were turning up in sport catches.

Two More Arrested At Weapons Station

PORT CHICAGO, Calif. (UPI) —Two more anti-Viet Nam war demonstrators have been arrested outside the Concord Naval Weapons Station, bringing the total to 58 in more than three weeks.

Marines arrested Mike Raabe, 22, San Francisco, and a 15-year-old Berkeley youth yesterday. Raabe was turned over to Contra Costa sheriff's deputies on a federal trespassing charge. The youth was detained by juvenile authorities for trying to stop an explosives truck.

Author Says Negroes With Records Limited In Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two bitter voices from Harlem — challenging a society they said seeks only to "keep the niggers cool" — stirred today an investigation itno government job policies in the Negro ghetto.

The question: Does a criminal record, which they said marks almost every Negro ghetto youth before he is 21, bar a man forever from government employment?

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., said it should not. And investigators for his Senate subcommittee, looking into city problems, set to work to find out what rules and policies the government follows.

The investigators may have a report ready tomorrow.

The bitter voices were those of author Claude Brown —who broke away from a youth of drug peddling to attend college, now law school; and Arthur Dunmeyer, who has spent half his life in prison and acknowledged he might go back again.

Brown told Ribicoff's subcommittee yesterday, "So far, all the white community has done is to try to placate. Just keep the niggers cool—let's pass a civil rights bill."

"I was selling drugs at 13 — heroin," Brown said. "These things are considered criminal by the other society. It's like a war between us and them.

"Whatever you may be doing — this is the way you come up in Harlem. You learn these games."

The games, Brown and Dunmeyer said, are numbers running, robbery, prostitution, swindling. Those are simply careers in the Negro ghetto, they said, adding that sexual promiscuity is accepted and illegitimacy carries no stigma.

Dunmeyer described the route to success in Harlem this way:

"They see that these things are the only way they can compete in this society. The only thing to do is to get something going for yourself. Its cheating, its stealing, these things are just a way of life."

And so is illegitimacy, said Dunmeyer. He said he was born out of wedlock, fathered an illegitimate child at the age of 15, and she was pregnant at 12.

At 30, he is the father of eight children and a grandfather, too, he added.

Brown, 29, wrote the book "Manchild in the Promised Land," about life in Harlem. Invited to testify at the Senate hearing, he brought Dunmeyer along.

garage door was closed and the car missing.

Zimmerman's gun cabinet was closed, with no weapon missing, officers said. The bed's electrict blanket was still on. There was no sign of a struggle. The house was not ransacked.

Coroner officials and Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales arrived at the scene shortly after receiving the report. Officers blocked off access to the house.

Homestead Group Discusses District

Homestead Valley Improvement Club directors last night discussed formation of a community services district but, lacking a quorum, took no action.

The subject, plus discussion of a policy relative to rental and use of Brown's Hall, will be taken up at the next regular meeting at 7:45 p.m. on Sept. 13, reported President Bernard M. Weinstein.

arms" program for rehabilitating Viet Cong defectors.

A Navy spokesman reported the latest incident in the river approaches to Saigon — the fourth attempt in eight days to block the waterways connecting Saigon with the South China Sea.

A U.S. Navy patrol boat spotted an empty sampan in the winding waterway 55 miles southwest of Saigon and closed in to about 50 feet.

The patrol boat sped away from the area. A Communist machinegun opened up from the bank and the boat's crew returned the fire. It searched for the guerrillas but found none. The sampan itself was blown to smithereens.

PETITION

been acting in a thoroughly childish manner. No one was interested in Strawberry for years until the shopping center was built.

"During all this recent horseplay, nobody thought to ask the people of Strawberry what they thought about it. I believe the vast majority will want to be left alone as they are."

Mill Valley Mayor Albert E. White told a different story.

"There has been a deluge of people (in Strawberry) asking to be annexed," he said. "We will undoubtedly file an annexation map including all the people who want to come in. The map will include those people who have requested to be annexed to the City of Mill Valley. Anybody who wants to be annexed only has to ask us."

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows, executive officer of LAFC, said Kaufmann's notice will block annexation attempts by both cities of the area for 90 days, but will not prevent the commission from considering the proposals. Barrows said he came to this conclusion after conferring with County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney.

Kaufmann disagreed, arguing that his petition prohibits LAFC from hearing any other proposal. "We can fight this out in court," Kaufmann said.

Signatures on the petition must be verified by County Clerk George H. Gnoss before submission to the local Agency Formation Commission.

A portion of Tennessee Valley will be included in the Mill Valley's proposed annexation, Balmer said today. He declined to estimate the size of the annexation, but said it extends "into Tennessee Valley."

Balmer said he and Tiburon City Mgr. Lawrence A. Rose were to discuss their annexation plans today. Rose is to present his plan to his city council tomorrow at 8 p.m., and Balmer is to present his plan to his council next Tuesday at 8 p.m.

OBITUARIES

Laurance L. Cross Dies At 74

A memorial service was scheduled this afternoon in Berkeley for Dr. Laurance L. Cross, crusading minister and former mayor of that city, who died Saturday at a Berkeley hospital.

Dr. Cross, father of Mrs. Barbara G. Lachelt of San Anselmo, had remained active almost until his final illness despite a long-standing heart ailment and recent operation. He was 74.

At his request, there was no no funeral. The memorial service was held instead at the Northbrae Community Church, which he helped build in 1924 and continued to serve for 42 years.

He became widely known throughout the Bay Area in the 1920s and '30s with his radio program, "Crosscuts from the Log of the Day."

More than 25 years ago, he became one of the early champions of civil rights for minority races. He sought equal job and educational opportunities for the poor, and sponsored fair housing projects.

He served two terms as mayor of Berkeley from 1948 to 1956. His other public service included eight years as chairman of the Berkeley Red Cross and eight years as a member of the Berkeley School Board.

Dr. Cross was born in Gastonburg, Ala., son of a Presbyterian minister, Rev. Luther B. Cross. He was educated at Marysville College in Tennessee and ordained at Lane Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Ohio.

On joining the Northbrae Community Chuch, he carried it into interdenominationalism, while he, himself, moved from the Presbyterian to the Congregational denomination.

Dr. Cross is survived by his wife, Erma, of Berkeley, and six children, Mrs. Lachelt, Gilbert M. Cross of New York, Mrs. Miriam C. Shelton of Corona Del Mar, Laurence L. Cross of Hong Kong, and Marimae Cross and Richard C. Cross of Eugene, Ore.

Burial will be in the family plot at Gastonburg, Ala.

Freeway Car Chase Driver Arraigned

Donald Melvin Frailey, 26, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on felony counts of car theft and battery on a police officer.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas continued the case until 1:30 p.m. Thursday for plea entry. Frailey remained in county jail today in lieu of $5,500 bail.

He was arrested by Novato and San Rafael police early Saturday after a wild auto chase involving speeds up to 120 miles an hour on Highway 101. Officers said Frailey, in a car allegedly stolen from Richard C. Mellor of 40 Sonoma Street, San Rafael, was finally halted about two miles south of the Sonoma County line.

While being booked at Marin County jail, he struck San Rafael Patrolman Donal Merkley, according to the complaint.

Overpass Beauty Funds Predicted

About $75,000 to $80,000 for the landscaping and beautification of the Corte Madera overpass area will be included in next year's budget, State Sen. John F. McCarthy predicted today.

McCarthy said he bases that prediction on talks he has had with engineers of the State Division of Highways.

"I feel it is quite safe to say that the money will be in next year's budget to go ahead with the Corte Madera overpass to the extent that Corte Madera has requested," he said.

MRS. NELSON

Constance Amy Nelson, 39, was found dead yesterday in her apartment at 124 Merrydale Road, Los Ranchitos, a little over a year after the death of her husband from a heart attack.

Mrs. Nelson apparently died of natural causes. An autopsy has been scheduled at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael, Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley reported.

A woman friend had been unable to reach Mrs. Nelson by telephone during the afternoon and let herself into the apartment at 4:30 p.m. where she found Mrs. Nelson dead in the bathroom.

Her husband, Frederick P. Nelson, a roofing contractor, died in a local hospital in July of last year.

A native of Minnesota, Mrs. Nelson came to California and Marin County six years ago.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Emma Hartman; a sister, Mrs. Emma Denman and a brother, Ernest Hartman, all of St. Paul, Minn.

V. PFLEIDERER

Funeral for Victoria Pfleiderer, 81, of Corte Madera, retired employee of the State Department of Employment at Alameda who died Sunday, will be held in Bucyrus, Ohio, at a date not yet set.

Miss Pfleiderer died Sunday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was a resident of Corte Madera for 40 years, her latest address being 17 Summit Drive.

A native of Bucyrus, Miss Pfleiderer came to California in 1915.

She was a charter member of the Senior Citizens of Corte Madera, a member of the Theosophists Society, and had worked with children in the Corte Madera recreation program.

She is survived by three sisters, Margaret Haala, of Bucyrus; Florence Eichmann, of Shaker Heights, Ohio, and Elizabeth Titus, of New York City.

Charter Revisers Say San Rafael Mayor Should Serve Four Years

San Rafael's mayor will be elected to a four-year term hereafter if city council and electorate agree with a proposal passed 3-to-2 last night by the city's charter revision committee.

The mayor now is elected every two years, with city councilmen serving four-year terms but two of them coming up for election each two years.

Committee members John D. La Noue and Leon H. Sigard wanted to keep it that way. Last week the committee was split 2-to-2.

The fifth member, attorney Thomas P. Boyd, was present last night. He broke the tie by voting with chairman Roy M. Michael and committeeman Gerald H. Purcell for a four-year mayor's term.

Boyd said he would prefer to do away with separate election of the mayor, electing five councilmen and having them choose one of their number as mayor each two years. This, however, had already been rejected by the other four committeemen.

The committee got into another controversy last night on whether there should be any minimums or maximums on tax levies for parks and library funds.

Boyd, adamant that there should be none, went further and proposed that the $1 general fund tax limit be eliminated. His proposal to eliminate all minimums and maximums on tax levies lost 4-1, however.

The committee then voted 3-to-2, with Boyd and Michael opposed, to continue minimums on park and library levies. But then, none of those who wanted the minimums could offer a suggestion as to what they would be.

The old charter calls for a minimum 4-cent tax for parks, and .7 of one mill for library. Michael pointed out the latter would raise just $680 on San Rafael's assessed valuation.

When proponents of a minimum levy could offer no suggestion, Michael moved that the minimum be set at four cents for parks and four cents for library.

"You just got that out of the air," declared Boyd. Michael admitted he had.

Before the roll was called on that motion, La Noue moved the whole matter of tax rate minimums be put over for further consideration. Everyone agreed.

All then agreed, also, not to vote again last night on any maximums on library and park taxes—on which the committee also split 2-to-2 last week.

A new proposal was injected by Michael relating to the city's annual audit. He suggested there be a charter provision for a "management audit" every four years, as well as the annual fiscal audit.

This brought strenuous objection from Boyd, who declared it "brings in some outsider to tell you how to run your city." However, McGuire said that as he read the present charter provision for annual audit, it seemed to provide for an appraisal of management along with auditing the books.

Sigard joined Michael in objecting to any management audit, but the other three felt it would be of value every four years.

All but La Noue voted to leave the list of city powers in the charter undisturbed, even though some of them are not now used.

All agreed that the present $1,500 maximum on city purchases and $2,500 maximum on capital expenditures without formal bidding procedure is too low, and that both should be raised to $3,000.

The committee was also unanimous in instructing McGuire to prepare a rewording of the section governing expenditures by the park commission. It is interpreted by the city attorney as requiring city council approval of all expenditures, which is what the committee wants; but members and their legal adviser found the language ambiguous.

The committee will meet again Sept. 7 at 8 p.m. in the new city hall.

Promotions Boost Advised In San Rafael

The San Rafael Charter revision committee last night voted 3-2 to eliminate the charter restriction on how much money the city can spend for promotion and advertising.

The 1912 charter puts the limit at $1,000 per year. To get around this in supporting the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, the city council has for two successive years hired the chamber to prepare an "economic and business report" in return for additional funds. Under this guise, the chamber receives $5,000 of city funds.

City Atty. David Menary has called this "skating on thin ice" from a legal standpoint.

All five members of the charter committee were present at last night's meeting, and all agreed the $1,000 limit is inadequate for a city such as San Rafael.

However, chairman Roy M. Michael and committeeman Gerald H. Purcell felt there should be a limit laid down by the charter. Purcell suggested that the charter providing this limit could be increased by unanimous vote of the council.

Committeeman Thomas P. Boyd, who had been absent at several preceding meetings, contended there is no need for the charter to say anything about advertising and promotion funds. E. Warren McGuire, legal counsel to the committee, agreed, saying there is a restriction in state law on the purposes for which such funds can be appropriated.

Michael argued that if there were no limit, the city council would be "besieged by requests for promotional dollars."

"They've circumvated this whole thing already," retorted Boyd.

At length, on suggestion of committeeman John D. La Noue, the majority voted to leave the provision for advertising and promotion appropriations in the charter, but eliminate any ceiling on the amount.

Blood On Glass Solves Mystery

Paul Louis Scott of 120 Floribel Avenue, San Anselmo, called police at 2 a.m. to report someone had broken a window of his car while it was parked near the American Legion Hall.

Police found blood on the broken glass. They called Marin General Hospital and found Thomas Atnip of 112 Humboldt Avenue, San Anselmo, was there being treated for cuts on hand and wrist. Atnip told police he had broken the window and would pay for it.

It's already time to think about Christmas decorations.

You don't believe it? Well, the merchants committee of Novato Chamber of Commerce met yesterday to talk about how to decorate Grant Avenue for the yule season. After learning from Paul Anthony, representing L. C. Williams Co. of Houston, Tex., that new decorations would cost $3,500, the committee delayed decision. If merchants don't want to put up that much money, old decorations may be used again, committee members said.

You still don't believe it? You should have been at the Corte Madera Shopping Center last week. On several light poles there were Christmas decorations of different kinds. They were put up as samples, so the Corte Madera Merchants Assn. can decide which type to buy.

It's already time to think about Christmas decorations.

Plant Goes Back To Work But Will The Pants Too?

GARDINER, Ore. (UPI)—Pat Morris has a bouffant hairdo, a pair of go-go boots and a full face with matching figure—39-27-39.

She also has a pair of slacks that stretched into a big issue in a strike that culminated today when 315 workers returned to their jobs at the International Paper Co. plywood plant here.

Miss Morris, 35, was told by plant officials a week ago that her slacks were too tight and thus distracting to the male employes on her graveyard shift.

The embattled brunette replied that her apparel was no tighter than the clothes worn by a handful of other women employes. And besides, she said, she worked shrouded in a large leather apron behind a stack of equipment.

Plant officials ordered Miss Morris home last Tuesday night.

She went. But so did the other employes, who walked out in protest of what they called an illegal suspension.

The company answered by filing a breach of contract suit in U. S. District Court asking $4,262 in damages each day the strike continued.

Harley Gray, president of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers local, announced yesterday that the men would return to work today. He refused to comment on what terms, if any, were involved in the settlement.

Miss Morris was scheduled to return to work at 11 p.m.

She was not commenting on what attire she would wear.

Oregon Firemen Ring Smoldering Oxbow Blaze

COTTAGE GROVE, Ore. (UPI)—About 500 firefighters ringed the smouldering remains of Oregon's Oxbow Ridge fire about 20 miles west of here today.

The State Forestry Department said mop-up work would continue until the fall rains drench the last of Oregon's largest forest fire in two decades.

The fire, which chewed through 65 square miles of young and old growth timber in the rugged coast range mountains, still lingers in stumps, snags and fallen trees.

Battled by some 1,000 men at its peak, the fire burned an estimated 46,500-acres. It was the biggest forest fire in the state since the third Tillamook burn fire of 1945.

The cause of the blaze, which started near a forest road Aug. 20, is still under investigation.

Rusk Denies Claims Of 'No-Win' Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk, answering charges the United States is following a "no-win" policy in Viet Nam, said today the nation is trying to "build a little peace" and prevent crises from becoming a general war that could kill millions.

He told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee it would be no problem to start a war any minute that would kill hundreds of thousands or "knock out 300 million people in the first hour."

But, he said, the United States has been trying since World War II to meet aggression with a measured response that would avoid "sliding down the slippery slope that would lead to war."

"We are too powerful to be infuriated," Rusk said.

He told Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., who had said the United States seemed to be following a "no-win policy" that "we are trying to see that North Viet Nam doesn't seize South Viet Nam by force and we'll accomplish that."

Rusk also denied that the Central Intelligence Agency — sometimes termed the government's chief spy agency — has directed foreign policy.

Corps Worker Tried In Africa In Wife's Death

MWANZA, Tanzania (UPI) — African villagers were waiting to testify today in the murder trial of a young Peace Corpsman accused of battering his wife to death with an iron bar because he believed she was unfaithful.

The prosecution was scheduled to call the villagers to testify they found 24-year-old William Kinsey, of Washington, N.C., standing over the battered body of his wife, Beverly, 23, on a rocky hillside not far from where both taught school.

Kinsey has claimed his wife fell from a rock and struck her head. He could be sentenced to death by hanging if convicted.

The prosecution alleges Kinsey noted his belief of his wife's infidelity in his diary. Then plotted a murder outing in which he carried the iron bar in a picnic basket.

Time Sellout

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI)—Last week's edition of Time Magazine, featuring a cover story on South African Premier Hendrik Verwoerd, finally appeared on newsstands here yesterday. It was promptly sold out. Distribution of the magazine had been held up until the Verwoerd article was studied by the nation's publications control board, which handles censorship.

Board Delays Districts Merger Talk

Marin County supervisors, seeing considerable controversy in the wind, today put off discussion of a county administrator's proposal that county service areas be formed to provide police and fire protection in unincorporated areas, and that eight fire protection districts in the county be dissolved.

Another reason for delay was the absence of chairman Byron W. Leydecker, who was on a business trip to New York.

Asst. county administrator John F. Barrows, who made the recommendation, said the board would have to set a hearing by Oct. 1 if the service areas are to be formed by Jan. 1, 1967, but supervisors saw little hope of meeting such a deadline.

Several fire chiefs from the districts involved were present and waiting to ask questions.

A protest from 10 per cent of the voters can force an election on formation of a service area, and the fire protection districts would have to hold elections on dissolution.

The service area for police would pick up 70 per cent of the cost of the sheriff's department. Planning commissioner Hugh Dougherty suggested today that a metropolitan police area for all incorporated areas also be studied.

Barrows was told to look into this and gather other details on costs of the service area proposals by the Sept. 13 board meeting.

Also continued to Sept. 13 was the proposal to contract with a nonprofit corporation to administer federal war on poverty funds in Marin. Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen asked that an alternate contract be discussed as well, establishing separate corporations for target areas outside Marin City as they are identified. Earlier he had objected to the proposed corporation taking charge for the entire county.

Counterfeiters In Arraignment

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two men have been arraigned on charges of counterfeiting $2 million in $20 bills.

They are Donald Dean Davidson, 33, of Las Vegas, Nev., and Darrell Wesley Davenport, 25, of North Hollywood, who were arrested by federal agents Friday.

Agents said the counterfeit money was found in two cars driven by the men.

Waukegan Curfew, Michigan Rockthrowing, Wauwatosa Peace

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bands of Negro youths roamed Benton Harbor, Mich., last night, stoning storefronts and automobiles as the northern Midwest stayed in the center of the racial scene.

Police Lt. Meredith Rynearson said some persons were arrested during the second straight night of unrest in the southwest Michigan city of 20,000, including some white persons for shotguns and bats in the car.

He said about 30 extra officers were called in from neighboring communities and from the state police as three or four gangs each with 35 to 100 Negro youngsters roved through a predominantly Negro area.

Eight youths had been arrested Sunday during a melee which ensued when officers tried to disperse a crowd.

At Waukegan, Ill., police enforced a 7:30 p.m. curfew and prevented a recurrence of three days of rioting. They arrested more than 50 curfew violators in a Negro neighborhood and charged them all with mob action.

Police said one-third of the arrestees were from outside of Waukegan. They said they confiscated automatic pistols, revolvers, ax handles, rubber hoses, knives, hammers and lengths of pipe.

Nineteen of the arrestees were white, police said. The rest were Negroes.

"We're stamping it out as soon as it starts," said Police Lt. Patrick Quilty.

The curfew had been ordered yesterday after seven persons were injured and 64 arrested during a spree of rock, bottle, and fire-bomb throwing by about 500 Negroes Sunday night — the third straight night of violence in a southside area.

Fifty miles up the western shore of Lake Michigan, quiet returned to the Milwaukee, Wis., suburb of Wauwatosa, home of some 60,000 whites and a dozen Negro families, as demonstrators paraded for an eleventh night.

Escorted by National Guardsmen, about 200 demonstrators walked unthreatened through the pleasant residential area where on previous nights hostile whites had surged toward them screaming curses.

Four blocks away, about 300 whites, heavily outnumbered by guardsmen and police, were halted behind barricades.

The march was held after Circuit Judge Robert Cannon refused to confer in the presence of newsmen with demonstration leaders, who want him to resign either as a judge or as a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, which they say bars Negroes from membership.

A spokesman said the group chose Cannon's house to march upon and his membership to challenge because he is considered more liberal than other public officials and more likely to comply.

Cannon offered to meet with civil rights leaders privately, but they in turn refused.

Dirksen To Vote No On Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen has repeated his intention to vote against the 1966 Civil Rights Act if the bill still includes the open housing provision when it comes up for final passage.

Twelve civil rights, educational and religious leaders from Chicago attempted to change Dirksen's mind about the open housing provision.

But Dirksen repeated arguments he has made previously that the House-approved ban against racial discrimination in the sale or rental of housing is unconstitutional.

Dirksen holds the key to Senate action on the measure, since sponsors need the votes of the Illinois senator and his followers to choke off a certain filibuster against the bill.

Balmer Bid Discuss Tam Valley Annex

Mill Valley City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer has been invited to tell the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club the advantages of annexing Tamalpais Valley businesses and the club's recreational district property on Tennessee Valley Road to the city.

The meeting is set for 8:30 p.m. Thursday, at the Community Church, Ash Street and Marin Avenue, Tamalpais Valley.

Club President Joe Allen said today that Balmer has replied that he must meet that same evening with the Mill Valley Library Board but will attend the club meeting later if he can.

Allen said Balmer sent the club a "short and sweet" letter saying, in effect, "the city plans to annex our property on Tennessee Valley Road."

The club bought the 10-acre site about one mile from Shoreline Highway last year and plans to build a clubhouse on the land.

Allen said the annexation subject is to be late on the meeting's agenda to accommodate Balmer.

The club will discuss a proposal by Neil Davis of Mill Valley that something be done about cleaning up Dolan's Corners, which Davis describes as "the ugliest 150 square yards in all of Marin County."

Davis' letter has been handdelivered to 36 businessmen in the Tamalpais Junction area, Allen reported. "The club hopes the business people will be interested in a self-improvement project," he said.

Club members will also hold a candidate's night to hear four contenders for Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District Directors in the Sept. 13 election. They are incumbents Francis M. Small Jr., Ralph P. Kellogg and Arthur L. Crebassa, plus a newcomer, Dr. William Hargreaves. Three are to be elected.

Supervisors Put Money Into Reserve

Marin County supervisors bolstered the cash balance in the reserve account today by transferring $50,000 from the fund for replacement for vehicles.

Then they took $19,800 out of reserves and put it in the medical care account to cover the $6 per day rate increase recently established at Marin General Hospital.

The $50,000 transfer was in response to a long letter from County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell who warned of cash shortages in reserve that will not be made up until property tax money is received in December.

Mitchell also warned of difficulties in funding the Hall of Justice project, the Veterans Memorial Auditorium, and the Community Mental Health Center.

Supervisors William A. Gnoss and Peter H. Behr asked for close looks by the administrator of further transfers, but other matters raised by the auditor were not discussed.

Vacancy Filling Is Delayed For Mental Health Board

In the interest of preserving everyone's mental health, the Marin County Board of Supervisors today put off appointments to fill three vacancies on the Marin County Mental Health Advisory Board.

Rev. C. M. Croughan was willing to be re-appointed, but Mrs. Sutton Christian, executive director of the Marin Assn. for Mental Health, objected, saying that Croughan has said that he does not have time to determine what the community wants and "does not regard himself as a representative of the public."

Another expiring term is held by Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker, and he was not present today. The third is held by Dr. Joseph Gutstadt, and he does not want to serve again.

The Marin Assn. for Mental Health has recommended appointment of Mrs. Trude Baum of Larkspur, Mrs. Sally Mishkind of Greenbrae, and Rev. Charles Gompertz of Ignacio. The association failed to recommend a psychiatrist to replace Dr. Gutstadt as required.

The word "bootleg" is derived from the cowboy practice of secretly carrying objects in the top of a wide-mouthed boot.

Boy Who Would Never Walk Swims 14 Miles

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Doctors predicted in 1954 that Peter Sheehan would never walk because of burns that covered 70 per cent of his body, but yesterday he swam from Alcatra Island to San Francisco.

Sheehan, now 18, was burned when flames from a backyard incinerator touched off his Indian costume when he was only 6.

He was hospitalized a year and it was 18 months before he took his first faltering step.

He made the 1¼ mile swim through choppy 56 degree San Francisco Bay water in 62 minutes.

Peter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sheehan II of Richmond. He now weighs 170 pounds and stands 5 foot 10.

War Combine May Cut Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon says the private construction combine building most U.S. military and civilian facilities in Viet Nam is in a position to cut back on unneeded personnel, machinery and supplies.

It made the announcement yesterday after it was learned that the combine is cutting its big work force by 6,000 men to 45,000 by Oct. 1.

A Pentagon spokesman said the cutback results from increased capability of military construction units. The spokesman added that "no curtailent of this program is expected."

CHOREOGRAPHIC COPS—No, it's not a background ballet, it's policemen hustling teenagers off the field at the Beatle's Candlestick Park concert last night.

Beatles End $1 Million Tour On Down Beat

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Beatles wound up their United States tour last night.

Only slightly more than half of the 42,000 seats in Candlestick Park were filled for their last performance. The Beatles earned about $90,000 for their half hour appearance but local promoters probably lost money, due to heavy expenses.

The moptops will be taking about $1 million with them on their return to London today as a result of their 14-city American tour.

About a dozen teen-agers made the traditional attempt to storm the Beatles' citadel last night, a platform set up over second base in Candlestick Park, the San Francisco Giants baseball home which the Beatles rented for the concert.

Only a half dozen exuberant fans, however, actually made it onto the field and they were quickly corralled by private policemen.

The concert ended abruptly on a chord half strummed as the clock hit the half-hour mark. The English moppets whirled, ran off the stage and piled into an armored car which whisked them away. They were scheduled to spend the night in Los Angeles before boarding a noon jet for the flight to London.

Sheila Breen, 15, Richmond, seemed typical of the majority of the teen-agers present.

"The Beatles are nice, but they're not worth getting hysterical over," she said during the performance. "Actually, I think they are on the way down in popularity."

Only about a dozen girls were treated at the first aid station and a spokesman said none of them was "really upset, just a bit excited."

One exception was pretty Dedri Whitehead, 14, Watsonville. She wept huge tears and managed to gasp, between sobs:

"I love Paul (McCartney). I love Paul, but he'll never know it."

Power Window Kills Child

ERIE, Pa. (UPI)—Three-year-old Todd Stephenson was strangled Sunday night when his neck was caught between the power window and the frame in the rear of his father's parked station wagon.

Erie County Coroner Merle Wood said the boy had his head inside the vehicle and turned the key which automatically rolls up the window.

His body was found dangling from the window, Wood said.

Sweden Plans To Test Family Life In Prisons

STOCKHOLM (UP) — Prisoners serving long sentences in Sweden will be allowed to take their families, wives or fiancees with them to jail, the head of the Swedish prison board said Sunday.

Torsten Eriksson, the prison's director general, said the long-debated decision is effective immediately on a limited experimental basis in two of the country's smaller prisons.

The decision to allow prisoners to have families with them in jail stemmed from nationwide debate which erupted after several newspapers recently reported that homosexuality and other forms of sexual divergencies flourished in Sweden's prisons.

He said the wives or fiancees who stay only a few days at a time will foot their own bills. Other arrangements, which Eriksson did not specify, are to be made for the permanent prison families.

Noah Webster's blue-backed speller sold 100 million copies, America's all-time best seller next to the Bible.

READY, AIM, FIRE—Mrs. George Coleman of Belvedere, volunteer archery instructor, gives Kathleen Anderson some help with drawing the bow on the range at Sky Oaks Girl Scout camp. At right Kim Coolidge of Mill Valley watches the plaster harden in her "bug motel." A tuna fish can lid on top will serve to trap any bug she wishes to study. (Photos by John Arms)

LIFE AT SCOUT CAMP:

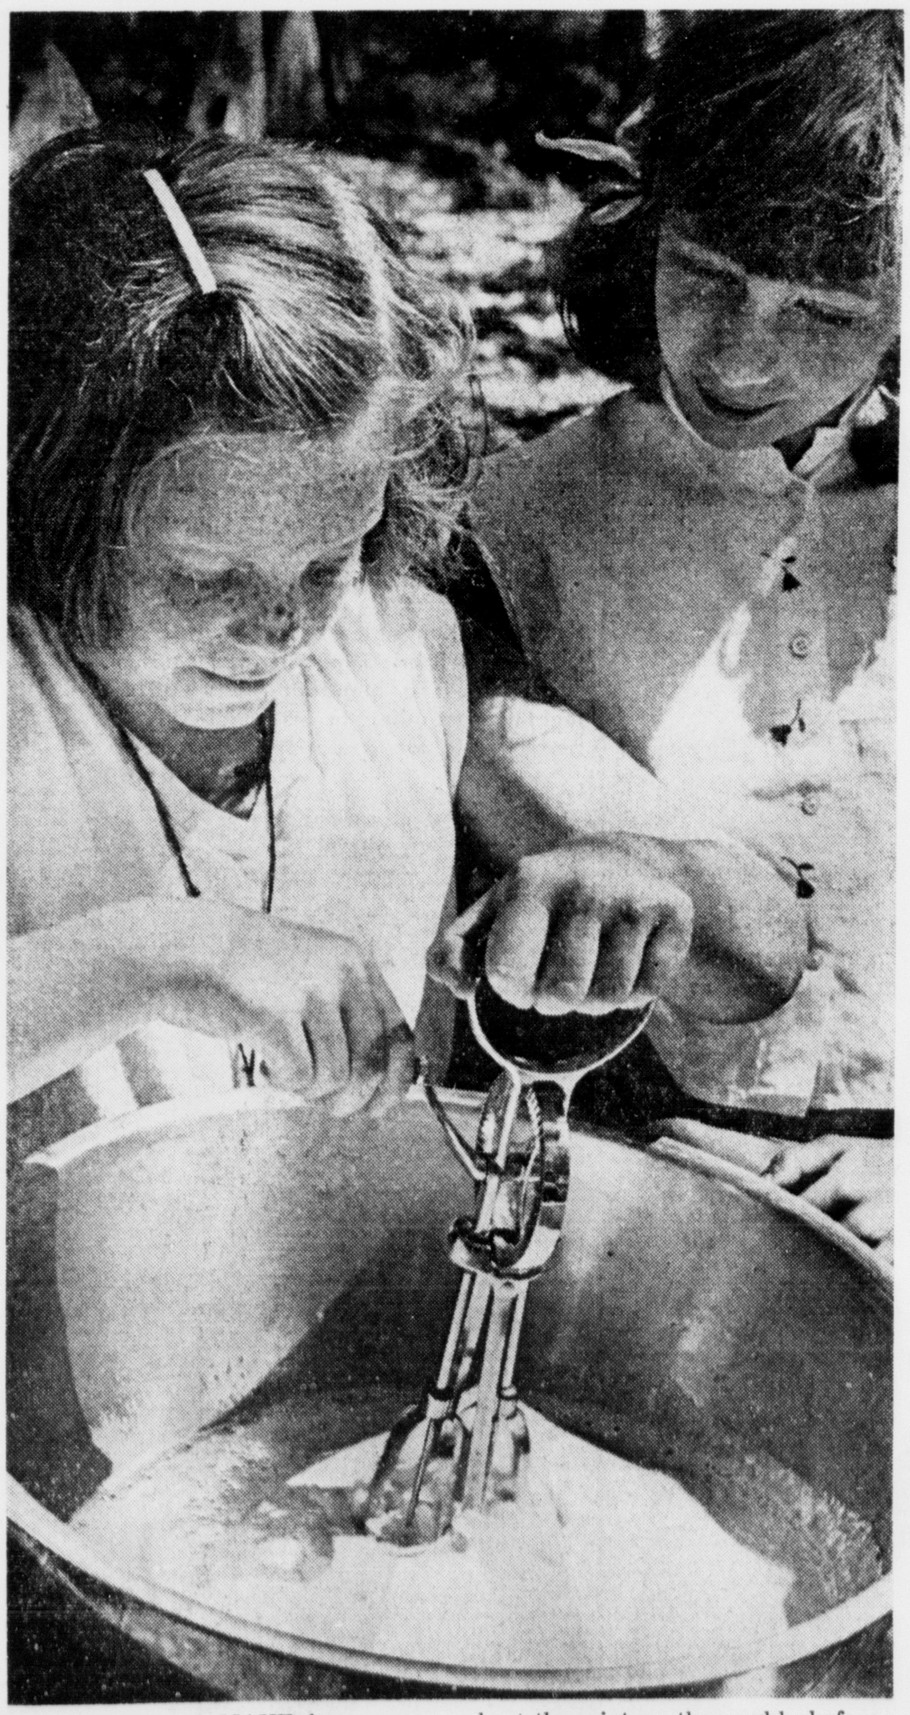
Shooting Arrows, Capturing Bugs And Cranking Ice Cream

Where have all the Girl Scouts gone?

Summertime has been camp time for many Marin Girl Scouts, some attending one of the four sessions of Marin Girl Scout Day Camp at Skyoaks, near Fairfax, for two week; first-time campers going to close-by Bothin Manor for a five-day resident camp, and others to one of the six Sierra camps maintained by the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council.

Ten Marin Senior Scouts will assist the National Park Service in a clean-up of the Yosemite Park Valley floor from their nearby Timberloft Girl Scout Camp. Service as counselors, counselors-in-training, and day camp aides have been keeping Marin's Senior and Cadette Scouts busy.

No matter which camp the Girl Scouts have chosen, opportunities have included outdoor fun, learning new skills in art, cooking, camping and crafts, as well as sharing knowledge and giving service. And it has been a most rewarding summer and a total change from the classroom for most of the youngsters.



LEARNING TO MAKE ice cream the long, fun way are Ruth Ellen Munger and Jessica Rosenak, who beat the mixture thoroughly before they pour it into the hand-cranked freezer and pack in the ice.

WHEN GRANDMOTHER went to camp—Mrs. Pearl Brady of Kansas City came to visit her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Brady of Fairfax and stayed to share her knowledge of birds with the Girl Scouts at day camp. Her work in a dental office came in handy for mixing plaster of paris for the "bug-motel", watched here by Kim Coolidge and Lisa Goolsby.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

The Father Throws A Fit When His Daughter Dates At Drive-In Movie

DEAR HELEN:

My father gets so upset when I suggest going to a drive-in movie with a boy that he about has fits. I'm 16, and know how to handle men. Besides, I won't go with a guy I don't know for sure won't get fresh.

You just say word "drive-in" to my Dad and he starts pounding the table, and going on about "passion pits." I try to tell him they're not that way any more because attendants come around with flashlights and check the cars every so often. They're just places where the kids meet. If they're out of line, their parents are called, and that does it.

My mother agrees that if your parents know and trust the guy, a drive-in is as safe as any other date. And not as expensive as most.

Whose side are you on, Helen?
—DAUGHTER OF A STUBBORN FATHER

DEAR DAUGHTER:

I" give the nod to your mother, but concede your Dad has points on his side too: he rememers those unsupervised drive-ins, back when they were first labeled "passion pits." (I'll bet you've heard this manly retort a hundred times: "I trust you, sis, but I don't trust them!)

Perhaps you and your mother can prove that a girl worthy of his trust chooses dates who won't make her break that trust, even at a drive-in. First step: Don't argue. Just bring the boy home and let your father see he's not all that evil.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Here's my five-cents worth for your Teen Boost-of-the-Month. I belong to a group of college students at an average size college who give a few hours of their time each week to help the "culturally and economically deprived." During our free hours, we travel to a school in an underprivileged area in a nearby town. Here, we talk with or teach subject matter to individual children.

In many cases, this is the first real adult with whom the child can or wants to talk. Often the working parents are too busy and have too many problems to give much of their time to the youngster. We don't try to replace parents or teachers; we supplement them. We hope to make these kids—and adults—feel that not all older teen-agers are selfish and spoiled.

I know we have counterparts in almost all cities, now that the poverty program is under way.—AN ACTIVE MEMBER

DEAR MEMBER:

You and your counterparts across the country are quietly and without much fanfare saving thousands of lives that might go on the scrap heap. Sometimes it takes only one interested person to start a child on an upward road—and teens seem to have the best results here because the kids identify with them—and listen.

Welcome to our Teen Boost-of-the-Month Club!—H.

(Note to readers: Send suggestions for Teen Boost-of-the Month to Helen Bottel, care of the Independent-Journal.

DEAR HELEN:

I was touched by the letter from "Desperately Sick of Life at 17," who says her mother hates her and she has no friends. Yes, she does need an understanding adult friend. If I can help in any way, please let me know. I've worked with young people most of my married life, spend one evening a week helping out at an orphanage. I can be vouched for by several community organizations, and I know enough not to advise, only listen and encourage.—WANTING TO HELP

DEAR WANTING:

Your letter—and many like it—makes me realize that for every "lost" young person, there's a qualified "supplemental mother" waiting to help, if only they could find each other.

The Big Brothers Club has done wonders for fatherless boys. Why not an oragnization of volunteer (though trained) women who can offer an understanding ear to girls who think they are motherless?

When the bride was given in marriage by her father in the double ring nuptials performed by the Rev. Joseph M. Sandven, she was wearing a floor length gown with A-line skirt of white peau de soie.

Maid of honor was Jane Wadsworth of Orinda, and bridesmaids were Dorene Brusstar of Oakland and Colleen Price of Hayward. They wore sheaths of moss green re-embroidered lace over peau de soie.

Jackie Demel of Hayward was the flower girl.

Serving as best man was Paul Orr of San Leandro, and ushers were Edward Kane of San Leandro and Richard Abbott of Mill Valley.

Following a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the couple left for a trip to Monterey. They will live in Davis, where both will complete their studies at the university.

The bride is a graduate of Tennyson High School in Hayward. She is the sister of Marshall Williams of Belmont.

Nicholas was graduated from Tamalpais High School and attended the University of California at Santa Barbara in his freshman year.

Pebble From Chile Used In Art Work

A very special Chilean pebble, about the size of a walnut, is the focal point of a work of art by a Sausalito artist to be sold at the Sausalito Art Festival this weekend.

Proceeds of the sale will be donated to the Sausalito Sister City Fund for its student exchange program.

Chilean journalist Juan Ehrman, who visited Sausalito two years ago, was struck by work Sausalito ceramicist Mary Lindheim was doing with stones, pebbles, and assorted findings. He gave her a very special pebble which he was carrying with him. Ehrman said his wife collects stones and pebbles and, liking this one particularly, had polished it and given it to her husband.

Miss Lindheim made a mixed-media construction with elements of sculpture, mosaic and painting, using the pebble as the focal point. The work, called "Focus Two," is about a foot square.

Focus Two will be sold at a Dutch auction, said Loren L. Jay, president of the Sausalito Sister City Committee.

It will go on sale at 10 a.m. Saturday, at $160. The price will then drop at $10 steps every two hours until it is sold. The fair is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday through Monday.

Jay pointed out that the fund's student exchange program makes possible the attendance at Tamalpais High School of Cristina Perreria, who is to arrive this week from Vina Del Mar to live at the home of Dr. and Mrs. William Haynes. It is also planned that another Tamalpais High student will be sent to Vina, Sausalito's sister city, next February to replace Terry Copperman, who will return around Christmas, the end of the Chilean school year.

In cloudless areas the earth's temperature may be from two to six degrees C. colder than the surrounding air at night.

Black Power Leaders Hammer Oppression

NEW YORK (AP) — The Negro left's most militant leaders hammered at the themes of black unity and white oppression last night from a speaker's platform guarded by uniformed members of Harlem's new Black Panther party.

About 250 Negroes, attending what was billed as a fund-raising benefit for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, enthusiastically applauded William Epton, head of Harlem's Peking-oriented Progressive Labor party and Max Stanford, a member of the Black Panthers, an offshoot of Alabama's all-Negro political party.

But they saved a standing ovation for Stokely Carmichael, chairman of SNCC.

Carmichael, who has been warmly received by young Negroes on a tour of the Northeast this week pounded at his customary themes of black unity, the need for "black people" to take over and run their own communities, and the so-called treachery of the United States in dealing with Negroes and other nonwhites abroad.

Carmichael spoke from a platform in the Mount Morris Presbyterian Church in Harlem guarded by six young members of the Black Panther party, each wearing black shirts, black pants and black panther emblems.

Epton urged a united front against "U.S. imperialism" in front of a half-dozen white newsmen and television camera crews before sponsors of the rally asked "the white press and all our enemies" to leave the church. Negro reporters were allowed to remain.

Then Stanford took the podium. Flanked by members of the Black Panther group, he said "black men" must unite in overthrowing their white "oppressors," but must do it "like panthers — smiling, cunning, scientifically — striking by night and sparing no one."

Stanford said the United States could be brought down with "a rag and some gasoline and a bottle," — the ingredients of a fire bomb.

His newly organized party is supporting a boycott of two Harlem schools Sept. 12 on the grounds that the two almost entirely Negro schools do not teach any subject well, and do not teach Negro history at all.

"This fight is going to be won in the streets," he said, "so come into the streets with us Sept. 12."

Carmichael criticized the war in Viet Nam, and urged "black people" to unite with nonwhites all over the world.

"We can't talk about freedom any longer," he said at one point, "we have to talk about liberation."

"In Cleveland," he said, "they're building stores with no windows. All brick. I don't know what they think they'll accomplish. It just means we have to move from Molotov cocktails to dynamite."

Show Chaperon Killed In Runaway Boat Accident

CHICAGO (UPI) — Services were to be held today for Mrs. Cleone Bew, 49, a chaperone for juvenile performers in "Hello Dolly," and victim of a freak boating accident Sunday near Wonder Lake, Ill.

Mrs. Bew, of San Mateo, died in a hospital after being struck by a runaway boat on Wonder Lake.

Mrs. Bew and four others, including her son Andy, 17, a dancer in the show, were thrown overboard when their 16-foot motorboat was jolted by the wake of a passing craft, investigators said.

The vacant boat circled around and struck Mrs. Bew before it was brought under control, officials said. None of the others was injured.

Members of the cast of the show said they were shocked by the tragedy. "She was the type of woman who was genuinely concerned with every kid in the cast," a production manage said.

ART REVIEW

Black And White Show Gives Fresh Broad Look At Basics

By LAURA DEVENDORF

In art, one usually associates black and white with the simplest, most limited form of expression. But it isn't necessarily so.

Certainly the Marin Society of Artists' black and white exhibit through Sept. 11 at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross shows that the elimination of color is far from simple or confining and instead, can be a highly personal and complex means of expression.

Nor is black and white interesting just in drawing or prints. The MSA show includes several fine figure drawings, and the block prints for their clean starkness are generally the most dynamic. But in this exhibit black and white is expressed well in many media.

Fred Herschleb's first award winner, "The Rebel," is a strong, tentacled mass of scratched, dry-brushed and washed watercolor. Nelcy Tarics "Ancient Kinks Who Did Their Days In Stone," which placed second, is a thick acrylic plaque, crazed, textured and then antiqued in tones of grey and black. Alice Scarborough's work which placed third is a varied-surfaced monoprint.

There is even humor. Eleanor Elsocht shows a delightful stylized flapper, and there is a marvelous oil-collage by Sydney Herschleb, "Do Blondes Really Have More Fun?" In this intricately executed work, a blond and a brunette are being balanced on warehouse scales used for the bunches of bananas seen in the blackground. The blonde, incidentally, seems to be getting the best of it.

Perhaps the most unsuccessful statements are the plainly realistic oils, particularly the landscapes. They seem to beg for color, as do some of the realistic watercolors which at times seem painfully photographic.

But to compensate, the "op art" pieces are especially good looking when done in the grey scale and should, in fact, help educate viewers to what op art is all about. Here, Katharine Holden scores with two very notable ones.

This is also a sculpture show, and as such, what it lacks in size it makes up for in scope. There are many ideas and no two pieces get very close in technique, approach or materials.

An angular figure done in sheets and ribs of black metal was the first sculpture winner and is the work of John Strong, who also won third with "Mod One," another much different figure with spiralled hair and a cut-out metal dress. Second place went to Tom Loebsack for his intarsia stabile of inlaid wood bird shapes which move gracefully on the ends of supple wires.

In all the sculpture, as in all the black and white work, the emphasis of this MSA exhibit is on variety. A black and white and sculpture show is a limiting idea, but the results are a fresh, broad look at some basic forms in art.

Federal Aid Brings Grass Roots Opera

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Aided by a federal grant of $105,877, the San Francisco Opera Co. is planning performances in what its director calls the grass roots areas of Northern California, Oregon, Nevada and Arizona.

With the money from the National Endowment for the Arts, the company is forming a traveling ensemble, made up entirely of professionals.

Director Kurt Herbert Adler was notified of the grant yesterday.

Both condensed and full-length operas will be performed in schools, neighborhood centers and elsewhere, Adler said.

The grant from the agency set up in 1964 by Congress is for a one-year pilot program.

Second Deck Must Not Preclude New Crossing

If the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District decides to go ahead with construction of a second deck on the Golden Gate span, there are several pitfalls which must be avoided.

Construction of a second deck should be regarded only as an interim measure to relieve immediate traffic congestion and should in no way jeopardize the ultimate construction of a second crossing for mass transit.

Most long range observers conclude that the automobile is not the ideal vehicle to serve the needs of Marin-to-San Francisco commuters. Since rails have been ruled off the Golden Gate Bridge for safety reasons, some type of mass transit over a new crossing (either bridge or tube) is absolutely essential.

John C. Beckett, former Marin resident who probably knows as much about Marin transit problems as anyone, has privately warned that future revenues from the Golden Gate Bridge probably will have to be pledged toward meeting the cost of a new crossing for mass transit.

Most of the opposition to the proposed second deck has come from those who believe that highway vehicles and highways cannot solve urban transportation problems. These opponents have feared that construction of a second deck on the Golden Gate Bridge will somehow forestall the later construction of a transit crossing.

As bridge directors consider various means of financing the second deck, they must make it abundantly clear that:

1. The second deck is only a stopgap, interim measure to meet the immediate traffic crisis.

2. The ultimate solution to urban transportation problems must come from a new crossing for mass transit, either a bridge or a tube.

3. Revenues from vehicular crossings including the Golden Gate Bridge, augmented by a second deck, must ultimately be pledged to help pay for a rapid transit crossing.

In other words, second deck financing should not be allowed to tie up all of the Golden Gate Bridge revenues, which could and should be used for subsequent rapid transit facilities over another crossing.

Construction of a second deck on the existing span needs to have first priority, but not at the expense of cutting off all future bridge revenues in support of a second crossing.

WOMAN WINS LONG FIGHT AGAINST TB

It took one woman 28 years to overcome tuberculosis, but she finally succeeded. Her treatment included an estimated 80,000 pills over that period.

"Twenty-eight years is a long time to fight for your life," she commented, "but I wanted to live."

She was stricken in 1938 and moved to Arizona. Recovering somewhat, the woman took a job elsewhere but was forced to return to a drier climate.

In 1946, 1948 and 1952 she underwent surgery. Again she returned to work and later had three more operations. Finally, in 1965, after a year's treatment in Denver, she was finally well.

"The hospital gave me back my life," she said.

The will to live is universal. The Lord, Who created man with this tenacious desire, also endowed him with an unquenchable hunger for eternal life.

You cooperate with Him when you seek to provide conditions in public and private life that help the life of the soul as well as that of the body.

"I am the way, and the truth, and the life." (John 14:6)

Let my actions, O Holy Spirit, enrich life in others, never diminish it.

Proposition 16 Poses Question: Can You Legislate Morality?

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The problem of whether to vote yes or no on Proposition 16 at the Nov. 8 election is one that will have much argument pro and con between now and electio date.

Proposition 16 is the only initiative to qualify this year for the ballot. It is a measure which seeks to re-write this state's anti-obscenity laws, and is being promoted by an organization known as CLEAN, in other words, the California League Enlisting Action Now.

The sincerity of those who sponsor the initiative cannot be questioned. They are convinced that the proposed law will have much to do with wiping out the sale of obscene reading matter, which in one form or another can be had all through the state.

THE PROBLEM, however, raises the old question, which is whether either the legislature or the people can legislate morality.

Many can recall the abortive attempt to accomplish this after World War I, when prohibition went into effect. This law probably caused more lawbreaking than any other one on the statute book, and resulted in more immorality than would have occurred had the 18th amendment never gone into effect.

While the two situations are not parallel, it nevertheless was demonstrated over a period of years that morals and personal desires do not make good subjects for preventative legislation.

THE AMERICAN CIVIL Liberties Union in Northern California has declared all-out opposition to Proposition 16. It announced the measure would set the stage for "book burnings and severely restrict the freedom of Californians to read, speak, write, perform and teach."

"The initiative," officials of the union said, "would permit any eccentric, extremist, neurotic or psychotic to force prosecution of any material he doesn't like.

"Anybody and everybody could set himself up as a censor. The initiative makes it possible for any citizen to sue a district attorney who judiciously declines to prosecute any matter the citizen considers obscene.

"IT MAKES A crucial change in the present definition of obscenity by deleting the redeeming social importance test. This makes good literature subject to the censor's shroud."

Further, the union points out that the proposition would make the most restrictive local standards all-important in determining what is obscene and what is not.

"It could make a book available in one town subject to prosecution in another town, because it often offends some provincial standards of taste."

THE OBSERVATIONS of the Civil Liberties Union fairly well portray the issue as one in which the voters have a choice of returning to the days of witch-hunting, or whether they wish to continue the present laws against distribution of pornographic material.

The problem is as old as the printing press itself, and ceases to be much of a problem when it is realized no one has to read pornographic material unless they want to.

Where Is Story Of Other Terror

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I have grown dissatisfied with the I-J lately because of what seems to be a bais (sic) in the reporting of news. A case in point is your head line of Aug. 22 which states "Woman, Six Children Die In Cong Terror Raid." While this bit of information, together with the accompanying article is of interest to me, it also raises a question in my mind. "Why should a color head line be devoted to this incident while very little is said of the incidents caused by the thousands of terrorists on the American side?"

Is it that terrorist tactics of the enemy sells more papers or is it that military censorship prevents you from reporting the incidents caused by the terrorists supervised by U. S. Army personnel?

Variances Mean Penalty Elsewhere

Editor, Independent-Journal:

When the San Anselmo City Council heard the lengthy arguments on the Bruckner subdivision, I was sitting near a gentleman who has made money in San Anselmo real estate, and who asked for no variances when he developed his property.

After he had heard the various offers and counter-offers between the city attorney and the developer on access roads, paving requirements, and provision of a fire hydrant, this man said to me in disgust:

"I think I'll buy some property and then come in and bargain with the city over it. Why don't they just knock him down?"

The Council would do well to remember Councilman Ragan's remark that when they are tender-hearted about variances to one developer, they are penalizing the good builders who comply with the ordinances without asking for favors.

Plans For Viet Nam Gifts Should Start

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It is later than you think:

At the risk of sounding like a TV commercial we would like to remind the various organizations who will undoubtedly want to send Christmas gifts and cards to the men in Viet Nam that the time to start planning is now.

Many groups will have only two or three meetings between now and November. We all remember the cookie brigades of last year. We've been told that they won't soon be forgotten by the soldiers either.

In our belated enthusiasm, and the pleasure of giving, we flooded the mails. Much of the stuff could not be delivered to the men until after Christmas. We are sure that the thought behind the gifts was appreciated; but this year it seems to us that we should use our experience and hindsight to some advantage.

We are afraid that the crack about, "Let them eat cake" applied in Viet Nam. There are many other things the men would like. Included with the cookies might be — soap, Kool Aid, deodorant, pocket books, gum, life savers, canned nuts, individually wrapped hard candy, games, puzzles, etc.

The men all share their gifts. The military advisors are in close contact with the villagers and the shelters for orphaned children. These men would probably enjoy the spirit of Christmas more if they had gifts to give. The children need clothing (used, if it's in good condition) small toys, coloring books, crayons, candy, and any dehydrated or non perishable food; so do the villagers. We have the addresses of many Advisory Groups which we will be glad to furnish to any organization, or individual, requesting them. The packages should be mailed early.

Some Figures Need Balancing

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In reading your article under the headline "Hospital District Ups Employee Pay Scale" I cannot understand how anyone should be permitted to write about figures without knowing whether or not they balance with previous statements made on this subject.

It states in the first paragraph that last night raises amounted to $91,980 and in the third paragraph it states that all raises granted so far would amount to $336,428.

Let us go into the details of these figures. Previously we had been told that the hospital employed 130 nurses and that their wages had been raised a flat amount of $60 per month. This would make it a monthly raise of $7,800 and per year $93,600. Add to this figure the raises granted last night, $91,980. You will get a total for the year of $185,580. In your third paragraph you show total expense caused by these raises of $336,428. An excess of $150,848.

Now let us examine the increase of cost to the patient. There are about 200 beds in this hospital and a raise of $6 per day will increase the revenue to the hospital by $1,200 per day or $438,000 per year. In your third paragraph you state that you can raise only $328,500.

I have no idea as to who gave these figures to the Independent-Journal as a news item but it seems to me all out of proportion and in fact not sustained by facts as previously mentioned in other news items.

There is another item in the second paragraph which states that the nurses had received their raise and therefore were not included in this and no objection had been made, and there were about 30 persons in the audience. Nobody states as to whether or not they were nurses or not. In other words, you are trying to convince the reader that there may have been nurses present.

It is about time that the Grand Jury take cognizance that Marin County has a District Hospital which is permitted by law to cover any deficit by taxes. Therefore is a public institution and subject to regulations as the taxpayers may desire.

Bobby Kennedy Stock Soars, But He Denies Presidential Ambition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The New York Stock Exchange is hitting new lows for 1966 but this year has turned into a political bull market for New York's young Democratic senator, Robert F. Kennedy.

He is being deluged with invitations to speak around the country in this fall's political campaigns just as the Gallup Poll says he is the choice of Democrats and independents for president in 1968.

Yet, Kennedy, who has made a bushel of statements on all kinds of issues since his election in 1964, has been consistent in saying he has no intention of being a candidate for anything in 1968.

THIS IS THE position he has repeatedly taken: that he supports President Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for renomination and reelection in 1968; that he intends to run for no office that year; that he plans only to run for reelection to the Senate in 1970; that he has no plans to seek the presidency in 1972; and that he has no intention of running for the vice presidency in 1968.

But if he campaigns for Democratic candidates around the country this fall—while Johnson is doing the same thing—both men and the country as a whole—will learn a lot about their standing with the people.

DESPITE ALL HIS disclaimers about presidential ambitions in 1968, Kennedy didn't seem to react happily to Richard M. Nixon's appraisal Tuesday of Kennedy's chance for the presidency two years from now.

The former vice president said Kennedy has small chance of bouncing Johnson out of the No. 1 spot for the Democratic nomination in 1968 but that Johnson might want Kennedy as his vice-presidential running mate, instead of Humphrey. Kennedy, hearing of this, said "I've never observed that Mr. Nixon's advice was very helpful to the Republicans, let alone to the Democrats. I only hope my political career will survive Mr. Nixon's endorsement."

AN INSIGHT INTO the upsurge in Kennedy popularity around the country can be gained from a couple of dates, about a month apart:

Last July 21 Kennedy said he would campaign for Gov. Edmund G. Brown in California and undertake some vote-seeking missions on behalf of Democrats in Oregon and Wisconsin as well.

But a spokesman for him said Kennedy expected to devote most of his campaign this fall to New York.

Tuesday his aides said he has a flood of invitation to speak for Democratic candidates outside New York and that so far he has definite commitments in California, Michigan, Illinois, Oregon, Montana and Maine with invitation to speak in Ohio, Colorado, West Virginia, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Indiana, Massachusetts and Florida.

ALTHOUGH KENNEDY has operated as a kind of independent spirit, being careful never to get too closely identified with Johnson, he has since coming to the Senate last year taken very few direct pokes at the President.

But he must have been a pain to Johnson many times—for Kennedy talks a lot—with his fault-finding about some Johnson policies and his suggestions on how they should be made better.

UN Entry In The Bag If Peking Wants It

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — United Nations membership is in the bag for Red China—if the Peking rulers will take it.

Red China will definitely be voted admittance at the General Assembly meeting set for Sept. 20. What the Mao Tse-tung coterie will do about it is conjectural. They have given no hint to backstage feelers put out by De Gaulle and others on friendly terms with them.

The U.N. also will impose new and tougher economic sanctions on South Africa.

The U.S. will oppose Red China's admission, but not as strenuously as in the past. Instead, its efforts and influence will be concentrated on preserving Nationalist China's status in the U.N.

THE U.S. WILL back stronger sanctions against South Africa. It favored the original bars, and will support the harsher ones demanded by the African bloc.

At the last showdown on the Red Chinese issue, Nov. 17, 1965, the U.S. blocked membership by a 47 to 47 vote—with 23 abstentions. However, U.N. insiders predicted the hairline victory would be the last.

Ambassador Arthur Goldberg confirmed that in his strategy conference with President Johnson the other day.

The former Supreme Court Justices reported that this time the entire African bloc will line up for Peking admission. Last year, 19 of the 26, voted with the Communists, and 7 abstained.

Virtually all of these countries are beneficiaries of various forms of U.S. economic aid totaling more than $1.5 billion since 1949.

A CEILING ON federal spending under Title XIX of the new Medicare Act will be voted by the potent House Ways and Means Committee.

Amount of the limitation is still undecided. It will largely depend on a report of estimated costs of Title XIX that is being rushed by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare at the Committee's request.

Representative Wilbur Mills, D., Ark., influential chairman, has the votes in the 25-member (17 Democrats, 8 Republicans) Committee to impose a ceiling.

But what happens after that is a toss-up. This is an election year and with all House members and more than one-third of the Senate running, Mills has his work cut out curbing Title XIX outlays.

THIS PROVISION IS an expanded version of the Kerr-Mills Act providing medical care for indigent old people. Now it includes the blind, disabled, children in families with unemployed parents, and others. The federal government reimburses the states for their expenditures on the basis of a formula ranging from 50 to 83 per cent.

When the medicare bill was before Congress, it was estimated Title XIX charges would run around $500 million in the first year. It is now evident that calculation was wholly unrealistic.

Of the 19 states that so far have put Title XIX programs into effect, their estimated cost to the federal government will be $830 million the first year.

NEW YORK, the other state, has voted a far-reaching program sponsored by Governor Nelson Rockefeller which HEW estimates will cost the government around $700 million, and could go as high as $1.4 billion.

In addition, a number of other states have served notice they will put Title XIX programs into operation by the Jan. 1 deadline. That means still more heavy federal expenditures, which alarmed HEW authorities fear could total upwards of $2.5 billion in twelve months.

Mills is determined to lock this barn door—belated though it may be. He is sure of Ways and Means Committee backing, but from there on the prospects are unpredictable.

Parents Should Help Children In Observing Bicycle Regulations

With the summer drawing to a close and the end of the recreation program here, the long Labor Day weekend approaching and the beginning of school near, Novato Police Chief Robert Di Grazia has issued a warning on bicycle riding. He expects it to increase on the narrow congested Novato streets.

The safety patrol officer Albert Mendoza joins him in issuing a warning and asking for safer bike riding in the city.

"THE STATE OF California now classifies bicycles as vehicles and they are subject to the same driving rules as cars," the chief said. Most parents are instructing their children wrong.

"They are not supposed to ride against the traffic, but with it, and obey all the traffic laws," the chief said. Bicycles are never allowed on the sidewalks, he said.

Too often parents get bicycles for their children and then turn them loose without any proper instruction, he said. Beginning riders who have not fully mastered the art of riding a bicycle should not be allowed out in the traffic.

OFFICER MENDOZA gives lectures and talks to the children on bicycle safety, but his advice is generally forgotten when the majority of bicycle riders get out together.

If parents would spend time teaching good riding habits to their children, the same as they do in teaching them baseball or some similar sport, then the number of bicycle accidents would drop considerably, officer Mendoza said.

Children ought to be taught the fundamentals of traffic regulations before they are given the use of a bicycle.

These would include such things as riding with the traffic, signaling turns, obeying stop signs, not darting out in front of cars or pedestrians, and generally good riding habits.

IF THE CHILDREN obey these things under their parents instructions, the general confusion of bicycles and pedestrians going to and from school would form less of a hazard to the motorist.

In the past week we have witnessed two near accidents involving bicycle riders. In one case, a boy drove out of a driveway and would have been hit by a car except that the driver noticed the boy in the nick of time and was able to swerve the car to avoid him. The driver of an oncoming car saw the accident about to happen and was able to stop in time to avoid being hit by the swerving car.

IN THE OTHER case, a bicycle rider was passing a slow moving car on the right side just when that car turned to the right. The bicycle rider did touch the side of the car, but kept going on unhurt after the driver stopped the car.

In both of these cases the bicycle rider was clearly at fault. Had the rider known and obeyed the traffic laws, neither case would have cause a near accident.

Good driver training for bicycle riders would eliminate a lot of bicycle accidents, officer Mendoza said.

"There would be a lot fewer accidents on bicycles in Novato if the bicycle riders knew and obeyed the traffic laws," he said. And this training, although given by the police whenever they can, should be supplemented with parental instruction and parental discipline whenever violations are known by them.

IF PARENTS would watch over their children riding bicycles the same as they do in warning them about crossing streets, etc., it would go a long ways toward making bicycle riding much safer for children, he said.

A good bicycle rider who obeys the traffic laws, should grow into a good car driver, he predicted.

Murphy Fought For Braceros But Demos Now Take All The Credit

We Americans are so inured to campaign hogwash that we'd probably miss it sorely if, by some miracle, it were to disappear altogether. Happily, no such disaster seems in sight.

Thus, an incumbent in a farm state, up for re-election, who has figures to show the average rainfall during his term exceeded that of his predecessor by 2.6 inches would be deemed a political dunderhead not to claim full credit. Why should a farmer vote for a party which is palpably anti-rain?

Like you, I take such petty thievery in stride. But when it escalates into grand larceny, I think it's time to blow the whistle and call for the cops. Especially when the intended victim is a long-time friend.

SEN GEORGE Murphy (R-Calif.) and I met on Broadway some 30 years ago, when he appeared in a show I had written. And later, in Hollywood, we stood together in the fight to prevent the Communist take-over of the studios.

So it is understandable that I have followed his political career with unusual interest and taken a vicarious pride therein. After all, how many U.S. senators can I call by their first name?

Assuming office in 1965, George made the headlines from the very start by the simple device of protecting his constituency. California farmers for years had relied on Mexican braceros to harvest their crops and the system had benefited both. Indeed, to many braceros the work was a God-send, since they made enough during the season to take care of their families for the year.

BUT THE FIRST rule of the geniuses now in power is that, if a thing works well, you must throw a monkey wrench into the machinery to louse it up. After which, you appoint a commission to see what is wrong.

Secretary of Labor Wirtz, bending an ear to some labor bosses who foresaw new members, issued a patriotic ukase in 1965, decreeing braceros must henceforth stay at home and their work go to Americans. Murphy, fearing this would ruin the farmers, spoke up in protest, but was denounced by Governor Brown and the bosses as "anti-labor."

Last August, as the peak harvest time approached, Murphy endeavored to get the entire California congressional delegation to unite in an appeal to Wirtz to rescind his order. All the Republicans — including Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel—responded, but only one Democrat, Harold T. Johnson, went along.

MEANWHILE, THE new order came into being and, as Murphy had warned, the farmers couldn't get enough Americans to do the "stoop labor" required. So crops rotted and a good many farmers began losing their shirts.

Wirtz then relented enough to permit braceros to enter for the emergency and salvage what they could. But not before some farmers, embittered, had left the state and bought tracts in Mexico.

This July, Murphy repeated his appeal, citing the previous fiasco, and Wirtz agreed to a similar dispensation in time to prevent the losses of 1965.

THAT'S HISTORY. But here is how Congressman John J. McFall rewrites it in his newsletter of Aug. 11:

"Advance approval by the Dept. of Labor for 6,000 Mexican workers to assist in this year's California tomato harvest carried out assurances given California congressmen early this year.

"Soon after Congress convened in January, representatives of farm areas of the state resumed their efforts to meet the need for farm labor. In 1965, they won approval of the use of 17,597 braceros to help harvest the richest tomato crop in history . . .

"Working together were" — and he lists all the Democratic congressmen of the state—none of whom, with the exception of Harold T. Johnson, had lifted a finger when the going was rough. He does give credit, however, to one Republican: Senator Kuchel.

Not a mention of Murphy. Which is like writing about Yorktown and omitting Washington's name.

Even for a campaign year, that's too big a whopper to take. Go wash your mouth out with soap, Mr. McFall.

Oppose War, Troops Told

SAIGON (UPI) —Communist propaganda leaflets found on a South Viet Nam battlefield urge U.S. troops to oppose President Johnson's "warlike clique" and write to three organizations in the United States.

The mimeographed pamphlets said letters should be sent by the soldiers to:

"CNVA —Committee for Non-Violent Action, 325 Lafayette St., New York, N.Y., U.S.A.

"NCC —National Coordinating Committee to End the War in Viet Nam, 341 W. Mifflin St., Madison, Wisconsin, U.S.A.

"SDS —Students for a Democratic Society, 119 Fifth Avenue, New York N.Y., U.S.A.

A statement on the leaflets said they were "published by the Bureau of information of the South Viet Nam liberation Viet Cong) armed forces."

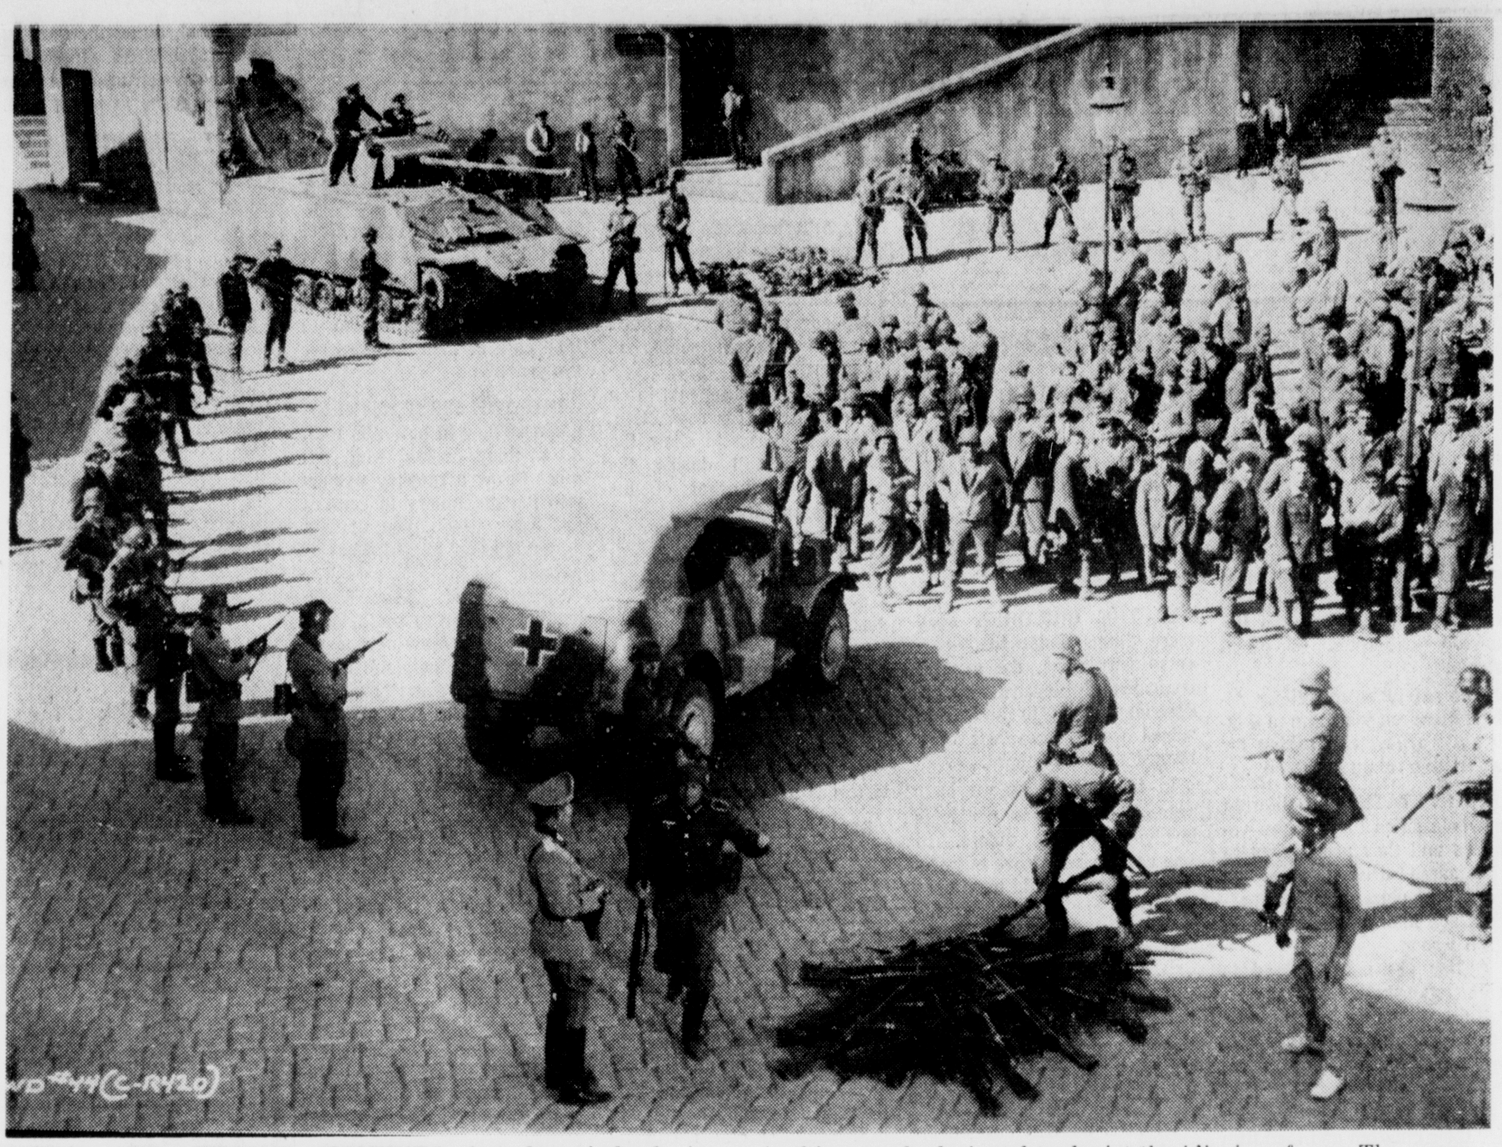
LOOKING OVER A DELICATE SITUATION here are Audrey Hepburn and Hugh Griffith, who plays her father in "How to Steal a Million," which will be the opening attraction at the new Tamalpais—completely re-decorated and with a grandeur-sized screen. The film is a romantic frolic set in Paris and involving art—both genuine and fake. Peter O'Toole, whom Audrey and her daddy think is a burglar but who actually is a private eye, shares top billing—and there's never a dull moment.



THERE ARE SERIOUS MOMENTS—but few, indeed—in "What Did You Do in the War, Daddy?", which is coming to the Rafael Theater. Dick Shawn and James Coburn play the leads in this comedy designed to depict the idiocies of war. The scene is Sicily, where a company of battle-weary GIs runs into an unexpected barrage of fun and games.

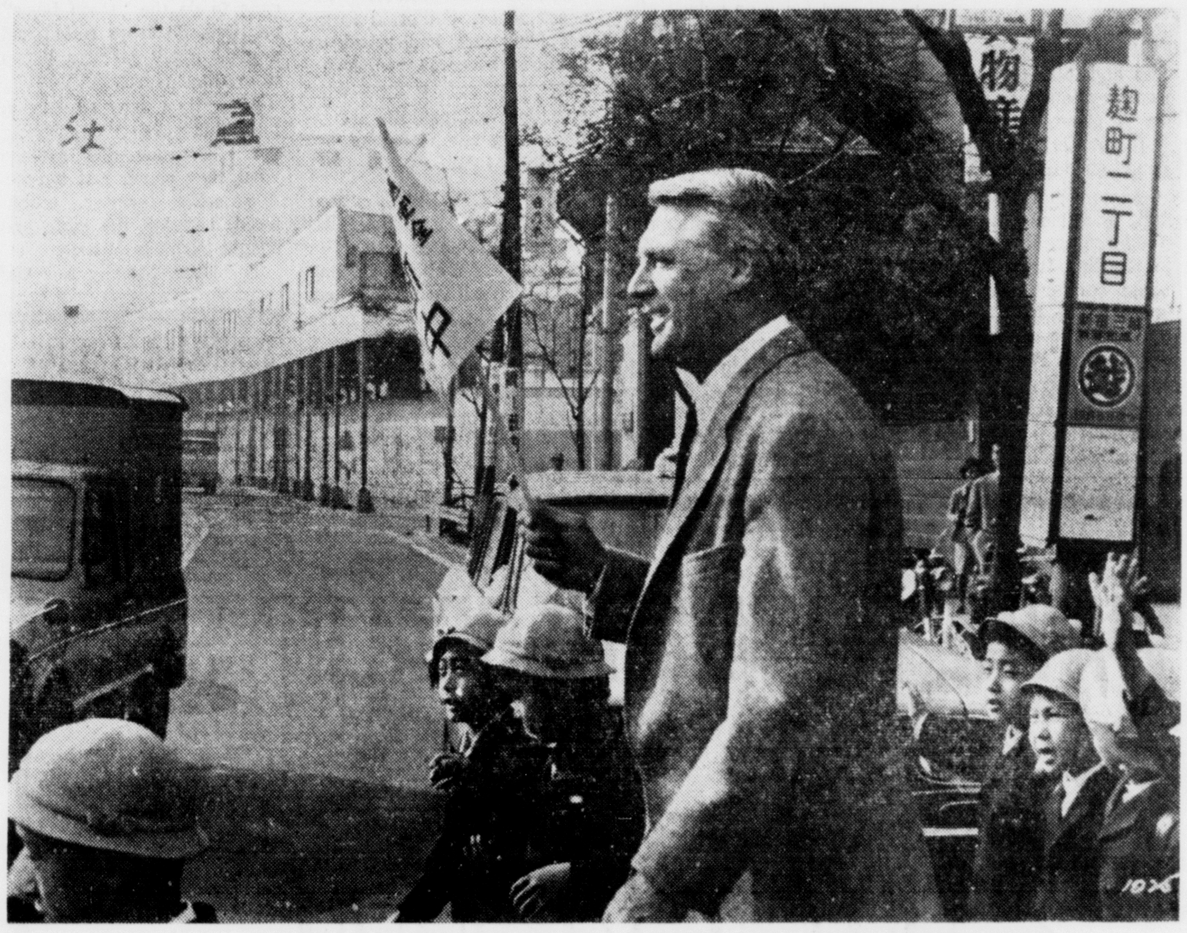
Marin Gets Variety Of First Runs

Theater goers have a particularly good choice of motion picture films currently playing and soon to play at Marin showhouses.

Jack Blumenfeld, in charge of booking and buying films for the Blumenfeld Theaters, reports that he has been successful in obtaining an array of first run attractions for the company's seven indoor theaters and two outdoor theaters in the county.

The Blumenfeld chain opened its newest Marin theater in the Northgate Shopping Center last April, employing the first 70 millimeter projection system and stereophonic sound system to be used in the county. Recently the Tamalpais Theater in San Anselmo has been remodeled, with decorative and acoustical improvements, and a new picture screen has been installed, enlarged 50 per cent over former dimensions.

Further improvements are being planned for other Blumenfeld theaters in Marin.



BACK IN HIS STRIDE is Cary Grant in the new romantic farce, "Walk, Don't Run," now on screen at the Tamalpais Theater. Samantha Eggar and Jim Hutton share the comedy as Cary performs at his classic best: funny, debonair and romantic. The scene is Tokyo at Olympic time—with the atmosphere crowded and the mood merry.

WALT DISNEY GOES TO WAR, too, in the upcoming "The Fighting Prince of Donegal." This war's an ancient one, however, and rings with the clatter of armor in settings of ancient castles. Starring are Peter McHenry and Susan Hampshire.

INTRIGUE AND ROMANCE will share the bill when "Arabesque" arrives at the Tamalpais. Its stars, Gregory Peck and Sophia Loren, are shown in a tense moment here. Peck plays an American exchange professor of ancient languages who runs into some curious conspiracies when called upon to decipher a message in hieroglyphics.

Sleeping Pill Assault Case Culprit Hunted

San Rafael police today sought a man alleged to have raped a 37-year-old mother of three children after threatening her with a gun and forcing her to swallow 20 sleeping tablets.

Inspector Thomas C. Cheetham said the victim was "in fear of her life." He disclosed she lived in the Loch Lomond area.

The woman told police the man, aged between 28 and 32 and good looking, broke into her home about 3:30 a.m. Saturday. Police were unable to piece together the full story from the victim, still suffering from the effects of the pills, until yesterday.

She said the man threatened her with a snub-nosed automatic, telling her he would kill her unless she took some sleeping pills. He emptied a bottle on the bedside table and forced her to swallow them one after the other.

The woman passed out. Police said there was medical evidence she was raped.

She was alone in the house at the time.

The suspect was described as about 5 feet seven inches tall, dark haired and wearing a white shirt and dark suit. From the victim's description, Edmond Mauberret of the sheriff's office drew a likeness of the suspect.

Kentfield Sets Closed Meeting

Kentfield School District Board will meet in a special, closed session at 8 p.m. today at Wolfe Grade School to discuss hiring an employee, according to Supt. Howard C. Harmon.

However, Harmon said the person whose hiring is to be discussed is already an employee of the district.

State law permit closed meetings of school boards to discuss hiring, firing, or hearing charges against employees.

Stafford Lake Stays Closed

There will not be any more fishing at Stafford Lake this year.

That was the decision reached yesterday by officials of the City of Novato and the North Marin County Water District.

The fishing season ends on Sept. 12. Officials agreed not to reopen the lake for fishing for that short period, said Edward W. Adams, Novato parks and recreation director.

The lake was closed to fishing last Thursday after several piles of human excrement were found along the lake shore.

"We have several days of work in cleaning up the lake bank, not only the human waste, but also beer cans and picnic debris which the fishermen have left," Adams said. He said that by the time the lake was cleaned up, it would not be worthwhile to open it for the few days remaining of the season.

OFF THE RECORD

Appoint My Job, Says Rafferty

State Supt. of Public Instruction Max Rafferty called for making his own job appointive under an elective state board of education in what he apparently thought was an "off the record" talk to Marin County school administrators yesterday.

Robert W. Johnson, principal of San Clemente School in the Larkspur District, who presided at the luncheon meeting in Tiburon, said Rafferty asked the Marin County School Adiminstrators Assn. not to notify the press of the meeting.

Rafferty told the gathering that controversies between the elected superintendent and governor-appointed board are caused by the present system. He advocated electing the board by popular vote, with the state split into districts each electing a member. The board would then appoint the superintendent.

Rafferty lashed out at the situation at University of California at Berkeley, drawing some objections from his audience. Challenged on his claim of subversion at the university, he declared, "I can show you the evidence."

He laid this trouble at the door of the governor — because the governor appoints the U.C. board of regents.

The state superintendent said he thinks California schools will find the five-year college education required for a teaching certificate under the Fisher Act will work out, although it now is causing trouble because too few are taking elementary school certificates.

He expressed himself as pleased with the progress of school district unification under the "carrot and club" inducements of the Unruh Act.

Rafferty also had some remarks about teaching.

"Of course we ought to teach manners," he told his listeners. "It's time our kids learned to be polite."

Controversial Union Film Showing Set

"Salt of the Earth," a controversial film concerning organizing by the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union will be shown at two benefit performances Sept. 24 at Olney Hall, College of Marin. Hours are 7 and 9 p.m.

The movie, written by Michael Wilson and produced in 1954, is being presented by College of Marin Friends of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee as a benefit for Delano grape strikers.

State Votes Faster Funds For Memorial

The State Public Works allocateed $217,000 toward construction of Marin County veterans' memorial building at Civic Center.

The board's action reduces from five to three years the funding program for the $2 million structure.

The board has allocated $105,000 annually since 1961 from state funds available for capital improvements to county fairs. It had been intended to allocate this amount for the next five years for a total state contribution of $1,050,000.

Instead, the board will allocate an additional $112,000 over the next three years, terminating its contributions two years earlier.

These speeded-up state funds, of which $630,000 is already in hand, plus the county's contribution of $739,500, will make it possible to begin construction next spring with completion in about 18 months, chairman Byron W. Leydecker of the county board of supervisors has said.

College Credit For Night Courses

San Francisco State College will offer four night courses for college credit at the Education Center at Hamilton Air Force Base starting Sept. 9.

Each course carries three hours credit and is open to both military personnel and civilians. Courses to be offered are: English composition and reading, economic and social history of the United States, political science, and general psychology.

San Anselmo Students Wait New Rooms While Builders Hurry

By STEPHEN COOK

When classes begin in the San Anselmo School District Sept. 12, seventh and eighth grade students will have schools of their own for the first time.

Half the junior high school students will attend Red Hill School, located between the new shopping center and Sunny Hills Orphanage off Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Workers are putting final touches on the two-building, $258,700 school this week.

The other half, attending Hidden Valley School on Green Valley Court in Sleepy Hollow, will have to wait until December for new classrooms. Until then, they will watch from the school's one permanent building and from temporary classrooms as workers raise three classroom units.

In past years, seventh and eighth grades have been at Isabel Cook and Brookside Schools, along with lower grades.

Only the skeletons of the new buildings are up and a look at the work done so far has caused one Green Valley Court resident to conjecture that the delay is due to a complicated roof design.

Louis F. Czufin of 35 Green Valley Court called it "the most complicated roof design ever seen—a combination of steel and wooden girders and assorted supports that is marvelous to observe."

In a letter to the Independent-Journal, he described "carpenters laboriously cutting angle upon angle in heavy beams—and hoping they'll fit."

District Supt. Stephen Parodi admitted "it's pretty complicated" but denied it is holding up the project. Completion date on the job is not until late December, he said.

The man who designed the buildings, architect Martin Rosse of San Francisco, said the work is actually going faster than planned.

"For just two months' work," he said, "the contractor really has a great deal accomplished. In fact, it now appears he may finish in early rather than late December."

The roofs are made of steel trusses and large laminated beams which span the buildings, joined by a mesh of supports.

If they look complicated, said Rosse, it is because of all the demands which will be put on them. All heating and electrical components of each building will be in the roofs.

What is more, all the weight of the buildings will be carried by the roofs, the concrete pillars on each building corner, and the outside walls. There will be no walls or columns for support inside.

This way, Rosse said, the inside of each building can be changed without altering the building structurally. Two of the buildings will have folding partitions for walls between classrooms. The material for each building is interchangeable with other buildings.

In his letter, Czufin also asked: "What's the premium we're paying for this complicated design?"

Rosse said the cost per square foot has been cheaper at Hidden Valley than at Red Hill School, which has simpler roofs.

Cost per square foot at Hidden Valley is $16.01, and at Red Hill $16.03, he said. Each figure is below the cost which would have been allowed if the state were helping finance the construction —$16.44 for Hidden Valley and $16.58 for Red Hill.

The buildings at Hidden Valley will house three classrooms, two science rooms, a principal's office, nurse's room, three conference rooms, library, materials center, faculty room, storage room, and two locker rooms.

Red Hill buildings include a library, office, hall lockers, storage room, conference room, two science rooms, eight classrooms, and two toilets.

Ex-Hub Policeman On Griddle In Martinez

A former San Anselmo policeman who tried to sue the city for back pay and reinstatement after he was dismissed has come under fire by 12 of the 15 men in the Martinez police department, where he has been chief for three years.

Martinez City Council heard complaints from the 12 officers in a day-long session yesterday. The officers said Chief Otto Bortfeld interfered with their private lives, countered orders from the city manager, dressed down officers in public, spied within the department, and told officers to ignore orders from their sergeants.

Bortfeld, now 52, was a San Anselmo policeman from February, 1948, to January, 1949, when he was fired by then Chief Donald T. Wood, now retired. Wood declined to comment on the firing today, but Vice Mayor Arthur W. Smith said Bortfeld was a center of controversy during his 11 months with the city department.

Smith said Bortfield reportedly tried to get Wood's job, and was fired when he failed to report to Wood some trouble he had had with another officer.

Bortfeld lost his suit for back pay and reinstatement, said Smith, who has served on the council since 1943.

Bortfeld joined the Martinez department as a sergeant in October, 1957, after almost seven years as a policeman in Millbrae. He was named acting chief in July, 1962, and chief one year later.

The Martinez council is to hold another special hearing to allow Bortfeld to present his side of the story. Complaints against him were brought by Contra Costa County Public Employees Union Local 502.

Fort Baker Fire Alarms Viewers

A wind-fed grass and brush fire last night south of Sausalito burned so brightly for a while that residents in San Francisco and the East Bay said they thought all of Sausalito was burning.

Reported at 8:53 p.m. by someone at Ondine Restaurant, the fire burned about six acres at Fort Baker near Vista Point and Yellow Bluff. Frank Christ, assistant Sausalito fire chief, said cause of the fire was undetermined.

The fire was put out by 10 p.m. by 11 Sausalito firemen and five soldiers from the Presidio fire department.

No building was threatened by the fire.

Sanitary District Tax Rate Drops

Novato Sanitary District Board last night adopted a fiscal 1967 budget of $199,490, and announced the tax rate will drop eight cents from last year.

The budget will be financed by a 33-cent operating rate, down six cents from last year. An additional nine cents will be levied for bond retirement, down two cents from last year, giving a total rate of 42 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The Novato Sanitary District Board also:

1. Set for Sept. 20 at the Novato Community House a public discussion on the master plan for the district.

2. Annexed one lot belonging to C. M. Turpin at Grant Avenue and Novato Boulevard, one lot belonging to F. J. Sieve on Novato Boulevard at Simmons Lane, and the Ladd subdivision of five acres on Vineyard Road south of Sutro Avenue.

3. Authorized hiring an assistant district engineer at starting salary of $782 per month.

4. Approved plans for a lot which the Novato Rotary Club will construct on district land at Olive and Railroad avenues.

Tomorrow Last Day For Class Application

Tomorrow is the last day to apply for admission to day classes at College of Marin.

WHAT IS RATTAN?
Rattan is not Bamboo. Rattan looks like Bamboo; there the similarity ends . . . where Bamboo is hollow, Rattan is solid, a durable and supple hard wood. Palasan grade Rattan, recognized as the world's finest, is a product of the Philippine Islands. It grows like a vine, twisting and climbing thru the mahogany trees of the jungle forests. Rattan is one of the world's strongest materials. It will stand more direct stress than hardwoods. You can be assured of many years of carefree use with Vogue Rattan casual furniture, which is made from selected grades of Philippine Palasan Rattan. Vogue frame construction is guaranteed for 10 years.

FABRICS All standard, custom and plastic fabrics are available at no extra charge. Zippered cushions; all poly foam seats and backs.

HERE'S THE STORY Vogue Rattan offered us this group at this tremendous savings with no restrictions on fabric or finishes. We feel it is one of the finest values ever offered to the public in Rattan. Come in and judge for yourself.

THE SCIENTIFIC TWIST

Discotheque dancer Sonja Sibirtzeff isn't rehearsing for a Martian journey. In a New York nitery last night, she helped scientists determine how much energy a dancer consumes with steps such as the watusi, frug and monkey. Any middle-aged fox trot expert could tell the researchers a lot faster. (UPI Telephoto)

Fund Appeal For Coyote Cage

An appeal for funds to build a new coyote cage at Louise A. Boyd Science Museum was made yesterday by Mrs. Clara Evans, museum director.

"Teddy Bear," the museum's popular California black bear, has outgrown his quarters adjacent to the coyote cage, so a new home must be built for the coyotes to expand the bear's quarters, she said.

Cost of a new coyote cage for "Chula" and "Peyote," Mrs. Evans estimated, will be about $100.

Mill Valley's Sunnycrest Annex Hearing

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission Thursday will consider Mill Valley's bid to annex the 31.9-acre Sunnycrest area bordered on the north by Edgewood Avenue and on the east by Sequoia Road.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Civic Center.

The Sunnycrest annexation, which has the backing of John F. Barrows, commission executive officer, is one of several items on a heavy agenda.

Also up for consideration is the adjustment of boundaries between Larkspur and Corte Madera, calling for transfer of 7.4 acres in the Summit Drive area of Christmas Tree Hill from Larkspur to Corte Madera and of 3.12 acres on Elm Drive from Corte Madera to Larkspur.

Barrows has recommended in favor of the move as the first step in straightening out a confusing boundary.

The commission will also consider the proposed 189-acre Ribers Brothers annexation to Fairfax. The property is hilly land west of the city. Barrows has recommended this be denied because the proposed boundaries would create two unincorporated but inhabited islands.

Also on the agenda are further discussion of the Miwok detachment from the Muir Beach Community Services District and the proposal to create the Tamalpais Community Services District.

It's Plane To See It Was All Illegal

DALLAS (UPI) — Bobby James Pinkston, 29, was charged yesterday with drunken driving. Authorities said he drove two blocks down a parkway and across a supermarket lot, knocking down a speed limit sign en route.

At the time of his alleged offenses, Pinkston was reportedly driving a plane.

Novato Parks Commission Approves Improvement Plan

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission last night approved a $1,354,000 capital improvement plan, submitted by Director Edward W. Adams, except for one park site.

Chairman William Keener said he would report the commission's action to a meeting of the capital improvement committee at 8 p.m. today in the community house.

The Library Hill park site just north of Marion School was the only one to which the commission took exception. Commissioners doubted that six acres on the hill, costing $140,000, would provide a suitable park site.

The commission went on record as favoring a second swimming pool in about five years, but to be operated with the school district. It also wanted more ball diamonds, lighted for night playing, on city parks.

The Novato Parks nad Recreation Commission also:

1. Heard a request from Charles P. Davies of the Novato Civic Foundation for a list of park projects which the foundation might help in financing.

2. Approved the plans for a tot lot to be constructed by the Novato Rotary Club on Novato Sanitary District land.

Bolinas Districts Combination Sought

Resolutions seeking consolidation of Bolinas Beach Public Utilities District and Bolinas Public Utilities District were submitted but not formally filed with the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission yesterday.

The resolution, from the two district boards, will be considered at the earliest at the commission meeting of Oct. 6, commission executive officer John F. Barrows said.

Murphy Reported To Be Recovering

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., who underwent surgery Aug. 25 for removal of a growth from his vocal chords, is recovering rapidly and will leave the hospital tomorrow, his son Dennis said.

The son said studies of the tumor disclosed a slow malignancy, in its earliest stages. He said surrounding tissue was perfectly healthy.

"He's feeling fine and signing letters today," Dennis said. "He will go home Wednesday and will return to Washington in a week or 10 days. The doctors said he would not have to alter his schedule there."

Chrysler President Stresses Response To Safety Pressures

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Chrysler President Lynn A. Townsend laid heavy emphasis on the safety issue today as he became the first auto executive to unveil his 1967 line of cars.

Townsend, taking note of the pressure which automakers have been under to make cars safer, told 300 newsmen at Chrysler's national news preview that the firm had gone all-out in the safety field.

Townsend's pinpointing of safety items overshadowed his report that Chrysler spent a record-breaking $370 million in planning, tooling and other costs to bring the new car line to market. A year ago, the figure was $300 million.

He predicted new car sales in the United States this year would wind up about 200,000 behind 1965 sales record of 9.3 million, including imports.

He said that while U.S. sales for the first seven months of this year ran four per cent below a year ago, Chrysler sales were two per cent ahead of a year ago.

Reflecting the spotlight which congressional committees and auto industry critics such as author Ralph Nader had turned on the industry's safety record, Townsend said Chrysler's new cars would continue to be "the safest we can build."

"One of the most important safety features on our 1967 line is an energy-absorbing steering column which will be standard equipment on every car we build," he said. "It will telescope at a controlled rate in the event of a head-on collision and reduce the likelihood of the steering column being driven rearward toward the driver.

"Another important safety feature in our 1967 line is a dual braking system which will be standard equipment on every car we build," he added.

Townsend said Chrysler cars ranging from the Valiant to the Imperial had undergone numerous style and engineering changes for 1967.

The trend was toward larger cars with more engine and accessory options.

Guitar Concert Set For San Francisco

Harry W. Alto of 60 Madrone Avenue, Woodacre, will present a varied guitar concert at the Contemporary Theater, 1725 Washington Street, San Francisco, at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Alto, who has taught guitar privately in Marin for 12 years, will offer renditions of classical, bossa nova and popular music.

Ex-Marinite Stops Fighting Tax Charges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gordon I. Smith, Sierra County district attorney, pleaded no contest yesterday to a charge he failed to file a federal income tax return for 1961.

Smith, 52, was permitted by Judge Lloyd H. Burke in Federial District Court to withdraw his earlier plea of innocent.

The judge said the new plea would be treated "exactly the same as a guilty plea" for purposes of sentencing. He set Sept. 26 for sentencing.

Smith could be sentenced to a year's imprisonment and fined up to $10,000.

Smith was a Marin County deputy district attorney from 1950-52, was appointed a Sierra County judge in 1957 but failed when he ran for election to that post. He was elected district attorney in 1958 and has served since.

Jury Indicts Couple On Jewel Theft

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Grand Jury last night returned charges of grand theft against Richard and Imgard Cross, accused of fleeing the country with $240,000 in jewels belonging to the company which employed Mrs. Cross.

They were arrested April 29 in Canary Islands, 11 days after the jewels were reported missing from Shreve and Co., where Mrs. Cross, 23, was a diamond inventory clerk.

Cross, 42, was named in the theft of $1,470 from the Roos-Atkins store which he managed.

The couple was returned to San Francisco with most of the jewels.

Snap And Hiss And Russians Hit The Deck

COOS BAY, Ore. (UPI) — Russian fishermen "hit the deck" in their first encounter with an American beer can equipped with a new snap tab opener.

The incident was reported yesterday by Pat Rooney Jr. of Coos Bay and Roger Todd of Bend, Ore., who were fishing for tuna during the weekend when they encountered the 150-foot Russian vessel about 10 miles out to sea.

Rooney and Todd traded the beer, American cigarettes and macaroni for Russian cigarettes and wooden dolls.

They said when the Russians pulled the opener on the top of the first beer can it began to hiss and they apparently thought the can was exploding. After their fears subsided, the Russians thirstily downed the beer, they said.

Vacuum Cleaner Shock Kills Girl

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A 14-year-old Sacramento girl was electrocuted Sunday while using a vacuum cleaner to sweep out the inside of the family car.

Ruth Jiral, 14, died after the cleaner cord was dampened by a lawn sprinkler, the coroner's office reported.

Deputies said the girl called out to her sister when she received a shock. But the sister couldn't pry away the vacuum cleaner.

The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Miro Jiral, and neighbors unplugged the vacuum cleaner, coroner's deputies said. But the girl was pronounced dead at Sacramento County Hospital.

THE PENNEY STORY

Why make such a big, big deal out of quality?

By ROBERTA NASH

If you ever want to get a Penney man going, ask him why Penney's makes such a big deal out of quality. Then stand back.

I asked a Penney store manager the question once and when he finally decided I was serious, he said, "If I could use only one word to describe the phenomenon of Penney's, I'd pick the word, quality.

"Mr. Penney has always been a fanatic on the subject," he continued. "They say the only thing that still makes Mr. Penney angry is when someone suggests we compromise Penney quality to make a lower price."

Wilson Trial Told Of Fees In Deadly Plot

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A police informer testified Monday that Norman Call gave him $2,500 to kill a labor leader and promised another $2,500 "when he read about it in the obituary column."

Wally Charleston, of Tiburon, the informer, said he gave back the money and got out of the deal.

He is the state's main witness in the trial of Call, Sacramento painting contractor who is one of five men charged in the April 5 shotgun assassination on a San Francisco street of Dow Wilson, AFL-CIO Painters Union local leader here.

Call, 46, was an employer trustee for the Painters Union local's welfare fund in Sacramento. Wilson, who had worked with that local, criticized the handling of the fund, which witnesses have testified had been looted.

Charleston, cross-examined by defense attorney Robert G. Scott said the offer was in a San Francisco Tenderloin saloon Feb. 16. It was made, he said by Call and Carl Black, 47, Oakland accountant who was the fund's auditor and who also has been charged.

Asked who gave him an envelope containing money, he said:

"Call. It was plain white, not sealed. I remarked, 'Well, when will I see the rest of this money.' He said 'When we read about it in the obituary column.'"

Charleston declared he got out of the deal by saying that too many persons were in on it and that Black "got hysterical" when he gave back the money.

A tape recording was played for the jury of what the prosecution says was a conversation between Call and Charleston dealing with Lloyd Green, a Painters Union leader who was killed May 7 in Hayward. There has been no arrest in that slaying.

Working for the police and carrying a hidden recording device, Charleston referred to the Green killing and asked: "You have to give up more than two grand?"

A voice identified as Call's replied: "Uh, yeah, but not much more." That conversation was May 9, the prosecution says.

Others charged are Max Ward, 47, Sacramento painting contractor who also was an employe of Call; and Richard Rock, 33, of Mill Valley, owner of the saloon where Charleston says he met with Call and Black.

Call is the first person to go on trial in the case.

VICTORIAN VINTAGE! This 10-room home was built with seasoned lumber and square nails! It is approximately 100 years old with the original carriage house and hay loft. Some decoration and restoration should be done, but this is largely superficial. The foundation, frame and roof are in excellent condition! Located in the very desirable Forbes area!

★ LADY OF SPAIN!!

The early Spanish Dons appreciated the cool comfort and beauty of tile roofs and stucco exteriors. Re-created here in San Rafael, this two-story 4 bedroom plus maid's room "casa hermosa" captures again this Early California charm. A delightful blend of high ceilings, spacious room and liberal use of wood. A miles-away view yet two blocks to downtown conveniences. Modern all-electric kitchen with plenty of storage. Full basement including two-car garage, workshop area, and storage room.

Islanders Flee Mt. Awu Volcano

Mt. Awu erupted Aug. 12, spilling hot lava over great sections of the small island. At least 28 persons have been reported killed, and some 60 school children were reported missing.

Sale Use Permit Is Turned Down

Peter J. Guasco failed yesterday to get a Marin County use permit to allow him to sell agricultural products on his property at 515 Aspen Road, Bolinas Mesa.

County zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill turned down Guasco's application after several neighbors protested over lack of water, dusty road, and the establishment of a commercial venture in a residential neighborhood.

Cordill approved a use permit that will allow Karl E. Grabner to establish a retail sales room for a nursery at Olema and Bolinas roads in Bolinas.

Tons Of Marin Gridders Open Practice

Tons and tons of high school boys throughout Marin County started getting ready for football season yesterday, with Novato High School leading the pack in numbers.

The Hornets, defending champs of the Marin Athletic League, had 112 boys turn out for the opening of practice yesterday.

"We hardly have any equipment left for the freshmen," said head coach Al Scott, starting his first year as head man at Novato. Freshmen gridders at all schools don't come out for frosh practice until school starts.

Scott, replacing Harry Moore, who was able to quit a winner after being promoted to dean of students, said he plans to carry about 40 boys on the varsity team and the rest will be dropped to junior varsity. "We'll probably even have to cut players from the junior varsity team," Scott admitted.

Last year 150 freshmen came out for football at Novato. Every piece of equipment was needed, and some were not able to play because there just wasn't enough gear to go around.

Double practice sessions are the rule at all seven Marin Athletic League training camps. It'll drop to single sessions when school starts.

At Novato, Scott is having all his players run a mile until the linemen can dot it in 6 minutes and 15 seconds and the backs in 5:45. "Most of the kids have made the time on their first try," Scott said. If they don't make the time, they have to try the next day. Contact work won't start at Novato until Thursday.

Seventy-two varsity hopefuls turned out at San Rafael High, but head coach Bob Muster expects the figure to swell to about 80 in the next few days. The Bulldogs were greeted with the "death run" on the first day of practice. In this drill, the boys run sprints back and forth across the field until four backs and seven linemen are the only players still running.

"As of now, those 11 boys are my first string," Muster smiled.

The veteran San Rafael grid coach said he will lop his roster to about 32 for varsity. He'll be going for speed this year rather than power. "And I'm pleased that the kids reported in good shape," he said.

Redwood had 70 boys report for the first drill yesterday, with the top 36 slated for varsity ball. Coach Bob Troppmann took a good look at his chargers in spring practice and has already split the varsity and jayvees. Conditioning tests took up most of the time yesterday, and actual head-knocking won't start until tomorrow or Thursday.

Some 60 gridders turned out at Drake High in San Anselmo, but Pirates coach Bob Franceschini is hoping for another 20 by the time school starts. Among the 35 he'll keep for varsity are 13 lettermen, making the Pirates quite an experienced team.

Drake started contact work on the first day of practice. "I told the kils to be in shape before they get to practice," said Franceschini. "We'll have judgement day (scrimmage) on Saturday." He'll keep about 45 players until the next cut.

Tamalpais coach Willie Hector greeted 70 players yesterday, and will pick the best 35 or 40 for the varsity team, the remainder going to junior varsity for seasoning. The Indians, very short on experienced linemen, might start contact work tomorrow.

There are 85 boys out for the first practice at Terra Linda, including 10 lettermen. Head man Brad Squires will keep about 40 for varsity. His schedule calls for conditioning drills most of this week, and contact work beginning Friday. The Trojans will have a controlled scrum Saturday.

290 OFFICIALLY RAN IN THE DIPSEA RACE

"Only" 290 cross-country runners "officially" competed in Sunday's 6.8-mile Dipsea Race from Mill Valley to Stinson Bench, the sponsoring Mill Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday.

The Jaycees at first reported that 328 made the mountainous trek, but revised it yesterday after double checking the lengthy list. "No. 328 was the last number we gave out," said co-chairman Jerry Hauke, "but that was in error. There also were about 10 'no-shows' and the actual number of 'official' entries was 290."

There were some unofficial entries, including a pert, 29-year-old blonde named Elaine Pedersen who ran the course in about an hour and a half. See photo on page 38.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

Naughty Golfers Caught In Act; Better Attend Etiquette Class

NAUGHTY, NAUGHTY—Last week in this corner we discussed ill manners on the golf course. Slow play and ignorance of pasture pool's book of etiquette have increased with the popularity of the sport and the newcomers especially should be tutored on the rules of the road, we concluded.

Tom McHugh, the pro at San Geronimo, is crusading the local drive for better manners among our hackers and tomorrow night will introduce the first of four skull sessions on etiquette at the San Geronimo club, 8 o'clock, all hands welcome. Bring your wife. Especially.

To prove his point that some folks just don't know how to act on a course, McHugh recently sneaked around the San Geronimo and marked a report card on several players.

Here are his observations (only the names have been changed—to protect the innocent. Dumb-dee-dumb-dumb):

"FIRST HOLE: Watched a player hit his third shot fat. Took a big divot that he failed to replace. (Tsk-tsk). He walked on the green and fixed his pitch mark like he should. Must have blamed the course for his bad third shot and complimented same on his fourth. Later found out he shot 83 — should know better.

"SECOND HOLE: Player hits second shot in hazard. Pulls cart across bridge and begins search for ball from green side of hazard. Can't find ball, so exits hazard on tee side, drops ball as he should to play shot to green, but has to walk all the way across the bridge to get a club, back across the bridge to play his shot. Wasted a lot of time and effort. (He gets a D minus.)

"SEVENTH HOLE: Foursome searching for two balls 150 yards from green. They were completely oblivious to the foursome waiting on seventh tee. By the time they found the balls and continued play, they had created gap of a hole and a half. (Rear-view mirrors standard equipment on golf carts???)

"NINTH HOLE: Two players in cart. No. 1 slices into driving range; No. 2 hits fine drive left center, 80 yards from green. They both ride to the slicer's ball again. He hits it up on the green, but now they ride all the way back to No. 2's ball. No. 2 should have selected a club prior and walked to his ball and been ready to play when his turn came. A lot of time wasted.

"TENTH HOLE: Two ladies whose known potential off the tee is 125 yards are waiting to play their second shots. The group ahead is on the green—well over 200 yards away. Why are they waiting? Answer: They were told not to play a shot to a green if there was anyone on it. They couldn't have hit that green with a cannon. In the meantime, the group behind is delayed.

"FOURTEENTH HOLE: Parked behind green and watched three foursomes play the hole. Saw many discourtesies. For example: Players stepping in each other's line of putt; moving or walking while another is putting; talking; and one fellow hit a shot out of a trap and failed to use rake that wasn't 10 feet away to smooth out footprints and blast mark. A member in the following group hit a shot into the trap and it landed in the footprint. Boy was he mad. Couldn't make his next shot—ball was six feet under.

"EIGHTEENTH HOLE: A guy is 40 yards short of green, hits good pitch shot, climbs into cart without replacing divot, drives cart to edge of green, walks on green and doesn't even see pitch mark, steps in partner's line while marking his ball with scratch marks on green. After completing hole, he drives cart on the perimeter of green all the way around the front edge."

WELL, I CAN see where I'm going to be tomorrow night and the following three Wednesday evenings—at McHugh's etiquette golf course. I've broken every one of those rules.

And I don't even play golf. See you there.

Dodgers Succumb To Shaw

NEW YORK (AP) — Fortunately for the New York Mets, Bob Shaw can pitch better than he can punch.

Shaw displayed his ability at pitching and punching last night as the New York Mets defeated Los Angeles 5-3 and prevented the Dodgers from taking over the National League lead.

If the Dodgers had won, they would have moved in front of San Francisco and Pittsburgh, both losers, by one percentage point.

Shaw, however, saw to it that they didn't, scattering seven hits and allowing Los Angeles to score only on a double play two-run homer.

It was in the ninth inning, though, when he needed only one more out that the Met right-hander displayed his pugilistic ineptness.

John Roseboro was at bat, and Shaw threw a pitch he felt strongly should have been the third strike. Umpire Tom Gorman saw it differently, and Shaw charged off the mound, yelling. Groman started out toward Shaw, ordering him back to the mound.

Just then catcher Jerry Grote rushed between the two and tried to push Shaw away. What some 40,000 fans saw next was Shaw swinging at and hitting teammate Grote with his glove hand.

DIDN'T PUNCH

"I didn't punch him," Shaw explained in the clubhouse afterward. "I meant to push him away so I could get a few more words in. How it looked was not the way I wanted it to look.

"He was right, of course, in what he did. H dedn't want me to get thrown out."

Grote didn't appear to be upset about the incident.

Shaw came within a step or two of being unable to finish the game. If he had wandered that much closer to Gorman, the umpire would have tossed him out.

"Sometimes a pitcher only acts as if he's annoyed," the 33-year-old veteran explained, "but I was sincere about the beef. That was strike three in my opinion. I just wanted to let him know I thought he blew it.

"When a pitcher beefs, though, he can't let himself be annoyed and let it affect his pitching. He has to go back and go to work because the call isn't going to change."

Shaw went back to work but threw two more balls for a 3-2 count before Roseboro singled. Shaw then bore down harder and struck out Johnson, ending the game.

The Mets displayed a lot of punch in the first two innings when they built a 4-0 lead.

Jim Hickman doubled home two runs in the first, and the Mets added two unearned runs in the second on Nate Oliver's wild throw to first on Cleon Jones' grounder and Ron Hunt's single.

UMP FIGHTING MAYS? — Although it looks as if umpire Doug Harvey is ready to fight Willie Mays, it just isn't so. Harvey is actually calling Mays out on a play at first base last night in Philadelphia. (UPI Telephoto)

UMPIRE HELPS ASTROS KNOCK OVER THE BUCS

PITTSBURG (AP) — Ron Davis can forget about going to an eye doctor. The umpire has diagnosed his case.

The Houston outfielder, who doesn't hit very many homers, triples or doubles, clubbed his first triple of the season last night, driving in both runs as the Astros whipped Pittsburgh 2-0.

Davis' good fortune came on good advice from the umpire calling balls and strikes. He explained:

"I thought some of the pitches were coming inside but the ump kept calling them strikes. Then he told me the pitches were actually catching the corner. Well, in that case I figured I'd better start swinging."

In came a fast ball from Pirate southpaw Bob Veale, and Davis crashed it against the scoreboard in left field, chasing in a pair of Astro runners.

"It (the pitch) was in the same place, but I swung this time," said Davis who went into the game hitting .187 with no homers, no triples and two doubles.

Davis, who also socked a single, added:

"I had two hits in the last six days. This gave me four hits in seven days. It's been a long time between hits."

Meanwhile, Houston southpaw hurler Mike Cuellar notched another first by gaining his first major league shutout on a five-hitter.

It was only the sixth shutout this season against the hard hitting Pirates. The others were turned in by Jim Bunning of Philadelphia, Juan Marichal of San Francisco, Bob Gibson of St. Louis and two by Jim Maloney of Cincinnati.

"Every pitch was working good for me," said Cuellar, "but especially my screw ball and my fast ball."

Cuellar, who fanned 12 en route to his 10th victory against six defeats, gave up only one extra base hit, a double by Bill Mazeroski in the second inning.

Pirate manager Harry Walker said dejectedly:

"He moved the ball around well. He had good stuff. You gotta give the kid credit."

RUSS HAS SEEN 'EM ALL

Bye-Bye, Baby! 538 Times

By RON BERGMAN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Only one man has seen all the home runs hit by Willie Mays, the greatest right-handed hitter of homers in baseball history.

And he isn't Willie Mays.

Russ Hodges, now in his 18th year of broadcasting Giants' games in New York and San Francisco, says he has seen all of Mays' 538 homers.

"Several times I've seen home runs go out of the park he didn't see," said Hodges. "They were potential doubles or triples and he was digging around the bases and not looking to see where the ball was going."

Hodges has missed only three games since Mays joined the Giants in 1951. But Willie didn't connect for a homer in those games.

"I called Mays' first homer," said Hodges. "It was off Warren Spahn over the roof of the Polo Grounds and on the first pitch he saw that game. It was his first hit in the big leagues."

The most memorable home runs he's seen Mays hit were the four at Milwaukee on April 30, 1961, and the one Mays hit against Houston on the last day of the 1962 season that allowed the Giants to tie the Los Angeles Dodgers for the National League pennant.

RUSS HODGES
Has seen 'em all

"Who will ever forget his four home runs in Milwaukee?" said Hodges. "But after his second home run it was just a question of how many runs the Giants were going to win by. That had to be his biggest day.

"But the biggest home run was the one off (Dick) Farrell here in 1962. He hit one (in the eighth inning) that won the game for us 2-1. Then we all sat around and crossed our fingers waiting to see what would happen in Los Angeles. That one won the pennant."

Hodges, a resident of Mill Valley, called the homers that tied and broke Mel Ott's National League record of 511. Hodges, as all Giants' fans know, says, "Bye-bye, baby!" for every San Francisco homer. His broadcast partner, Lon Simmons, called the homers that tied and broke the right-handed record of 534 by Jimmy Foxx.

Now all that's left for Mays and Hodges is Babe Ruth's 714. Ruth is the only player ever to hit more than the Giants' center fielder.

"I wouldn't want to say on that," commented Hodges about Mays' chances to catch Ruth. Hodges thought about that a second.

"But let me say that anything Mays does wouldn't surprise me."

Herman Tangles With Reporters

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The pennant pressure may not be affecting the San Francisco Giants' players, but Manager Herman Franks appears to be a bit raggedy at the edges.

After Jim Bunning, the modern day Giant killer, pinned the Giants' ears back for the 10th time in 12 decisions over three years, Franks ranted and raved in the clubhouse, refusing to answer questions of baseball writers.

He stood in the manager's end of the clubhouse at Connie Mack Stadium last night holding aloft a column written about a month ago by a Philadelphia columnist. In brief it said Willie Mays was the real manager of the Giants, and Franks was Mays' caddy.

"What kind of nonsense is this," the San Francisco skipper roared. "Where is this guy?" motioning to the name of the author of the column he was exhibiting.

"How come Jim Bunning handles you guys so easy?" asked one writer, ignoring the red-faced San Francisco skipper's tirade.

Franks sputtered, glared and then almost shouted the answer.

"Because he's a good pitcher, that's why. Why the hell do you think? He's good."

Franks looked as if he would shoot through the ceiling, but growled:

'BOTTLE IT'

"If you can find the answer to that one, bottle it and sell it. You'll make a million. Tell me and I'll start him every four days."

One writer, miffed because Franks wouldn't settle down and talk baseball, told him:

"The trouble with you is you're not news."

"I'm not worried about news," Franks roared. "I'm only worried about 25 ballplayers," and he walked down the corridor toward the San Francisco bus.

Not even the fact that Pittsburgh had lost, and the Giants still were deadlocked for first place in the National League could placate the Giants' skipper. The Dodgers also lost and remained a game back, though even in the all-important lost column.

Bunning gave up a run in a single, fielder's choice and Mays' double off the scoreboard in the first, then holding the Giants hitless until the ninth. The only baserunner after Mays' one-out double until Tito Fuentes singled leading off the ninth, was on Dick Groat's fifth inning error.

Sales Girl Leads Bay Sail Races

West Coast teams finished one-two in the first day of the Women's North American Sailing championships yesterday on San Francisco Bay.

San Francisco Yacht Club of Belvedere is host for the eight-race round robin series being waged in the Berkeley Shoals area of the Bay.

Taking the first day lead was skipper Jerie Clark, 23, a sales girl from Seattle, representing that city's Corinthian Yacht Club. Jerie was the only skipper to hoist a spinnaker in the third race yesterday and she found that it paid off in a big first

Axe Falls Today On NFL Squads

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Coach Norb Hecker of the new Atlanta Falcons was so pleased today with his leftovers, he will be back in line tonight for another plate full.

The line for seconds in this buffet will form outside the doors of the 14 old National Football League clubs, who must trim down from 49 to 43 players by midnight. Most of them are five or six over the limit and Hecker will be sniffing around for the best cuts of football beef.

His confidence bolstered by his club's first NFL victory over the San Francisco 49ers Saturday, Hecker feel his offensive and defensive units are pretty well set.

"Of course, we're not going to turn down a chance to get a player we think can help us more than the ones we have," he said. His main need is bench strength, but he added that he will not give up future draft choices to obtain veteran backup men.

Among those to be sifted through are players released yesterday by the New York Giants and Washington Redskins of the NFL and the San Diego Chargers of the American Football League.

The Giants reached the 43-man limit by placing four men on waivers, including second year quarterback Bob Timberlake of Michigan, the Giants' No. 3 draft choice in 1965.

Others waived were linebacker Olen Underwood, a second year man from Texas, and two rookies, running back Steve Bowman of Alabama and guard Owen Thomas of New Mexico State.

Washington dropped rookie quarterback Harry Theofiledes of Waynesburg, Pa., and fullback Tom Urbanik of Penn State.

The Chargers released linebacker Jack Milks of San Diego State, defensive back Jim Tolbert of Lincoln, Mo., University and quarterback Dan Henning of William and Mary.

Hecker is not likely to go after the quarterbacks after the showing of rookie Randy Johnson in Saturday's 24-17 victory over San Francisco and Dennis Claridge in earlier games.

One team that will be worried about its quarterback this week will be the New York Jets of the AFL. All eyes will be on starter Joe Namath, last season's Rookie-of-the-Year, who missed the last two exhibition games because of a knee strain.

Namath, who came into the league with a doubtful knee, will return to the practice field this week after throwing form a set position yesterday and passing that test.

Coach Weeb Eubank said a decision would be made today by Dr. James A. Nicholas, the team physician, on whether Namath would play in an exhibition game Thursday night against the Boston Patriots in Mobile, Ala.

Booker Edgerson, veteran corner for the Buffalo Bills of the AFL, will undergo surgery on his left knee today and will be out from four to six weeks.

The Chargers received good news when star flanker Lance Alworth, who had been sidelined with an injury, was pronounced fit for Sunday's season opener against Buffalo.

McDevitt, Walter Castro Jr. and Merrold Campbell of the auto firm. All tourney proceeds will go to the Marin Youth Fund. (Ken Molino photo)

TV STARS ENTER MARIN TOURNEY

Television song star Andy Williams will lead an all-star Hollywood cast scheduled to play in the Sept. 18 Marin Invitational Golf Tournament of Stars at Peacock Gap, General Chairman William H. McDevitt announced yesterday.

Marin Youth Fund again will benefit from the tournament's proceeds.

The stars will be flown to the Bay Area on Saturday, Sept. 17, appear at a banquet that night at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael, play golf on Sunday and return to Hollywood following an awards dinner that night at Peacock Gap.

Tickets are priced at $2 and are on sale at all Marin County golf courses and also at the William H. McDevitt Co. offices, 511 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael.

A Rugged Week For Marin Pro Hurlers

Frank Burch had a rough week in pro baseball, but things were even worse for Steve Miller.

Burch, a San Rafael lad pitching for Cocoa of the Florida State League, went three innings in one game during the last reported week from Player Periscope of Novato, but it was long enough to get a loss. His record fell to 1 win and 4 losses and his earned run average jumped up to 3.21.

In Burch's three-inning stint, he fanned one, gave up six hits and four walks, running his season totals to 30 walks and 23 strike outs in 42 innings.

Miller, the San Anselmo product who is hurling for Salisbury, N.C. of the Western Carolina League, went four innings in two games and lost them both. He gave up seven hits, five walks and whiffed one.

The twin losses dropped Miller's season record to 3-9 and his ERA is now up to 7.29. In 84 innings of work, Miller has allowed 80 hits, 100 walks and has fanned 64 batters.

Mrs. Coker Triumphs In Mill Valley Golf

N.L. Schedule A Masterpiece; Pirates Face Severe Test

STEVENS

PHILADELPHIA — Harry Simmons is an old hand at drafting National League baseball schedules but this year he fashioned a masterpiece. Simmons' 1966 creation is a dream schedule that has the front running Giants, Pirates and Dodgers clashing head-on in the stretch.

Simmons, secretary of the International League for years, now works out of the baseball commissioner's office. He is a genius on a thankless behind-the-scenes job which seldom prompts compliments. Indeed, he has grown immune to the usual squawking from all clubs for better dates and better travel schedules.

Midwest and eastern clubs howled when they were scheduled in back-to-back series against the Dodgers and Giants, protesting that no club had enough front line pitching to take on the Dodgers and Giants in successive series.

SO WHEN Houston was admitted to the National League five seasons ago, Simmons sandwiched the Astros between the Dodgers and Giants on far west swings of the other clubs. That prompted more protests because of long dogleg flights from Los Angeles to San Francisco via Houston or vice versa.

Back-to-back series against the Dodgers and Giants were far more preferable than dawn arrivals in Houston from Los Angeles or San Francisco with ensuing flights back to the coast from Houston.

THUS, IN the final weeks of the tense 1966 National League pennant race, the Pirates are going to get a very severe test. They are scheduled for three games against the Dodgers Sept. 15-16-17 and then four against the Giants on Sept. 18-19-20-21.

IF THE Pirates survive those seven games in respectable fashion they deserve to win the pennant. They will get a final shot at the Giants on their home lot in Forbes Field in a three-game series at the close of the season Sept. 30-Oct. 2.

Simmons didn't even overlook the Phillies in his masterpiece. The Phillies, who have been hanging tough in fourth place, will close the season in Connie Mack Stadium against the Dodgers in a three-game schedule.

DODGER FANS see an edge in the tailend of the schedule because their favorite team has whipped the Phillies 8 out of 11 this year. They hopefully envision the Giants and Pirates knocking each other out of contention while the Dodgers romp to victory over the Phillies.

However, there still is a lot of baseball to be played before that final week of the suspenseful 1966 National League race rolls around. Simmons has seen to that.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If You Think Bridge Players Are Sane, Recall Damon And Pythias

When you're in a mellow mood and begin to think bridge players are sane, remember the case of Damon and Pythias.

Damon Jones and Pythias Smith were bridge partners for many years—until they played the hand shown today.

Damon opened the singleton diamond, and Pythias took the ace and returned a diamond for a ruff.

If Damon then returned a heart, dummy's queen would win; and if Damon returned anything else declarer would win, draw trumps and discard his low hearts on dummy's extra diamonds.

Declarer made ten tricks, of course, and Damon growled: "We'd beat him if you returned a heart instead of a diamond."

"What good would that do?"

"I'd get a trick with the king of hearts," Damon shouted. "You can give me the ruff later by taking the first trump trick and leading a diamond. But the only hope for a heart trick is to lead the suit right away."

LUCKY JACK

"Look again," Pythias interrupted. "If I return a heart he puts up the ace and runs three clubs to get rid of dummy's heart. We can never get a heart trick."

"Your play was still wrong," Damon insisted. "If I had the jack of clubs a heart return would beat him. The diamond return is a give-up play."

Damon was right because in theory the heart return might beat the contract and the diamond return could not. Pythias was right too, because in the actual hand the heart return would have done no good.

Still, Damon and Pythias had such a squabble over a hand in which they were both right that they stopped playing as partners and now barely talk when they meet.

Do you still think bridge players are sane?

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, you respond one spade, and partner raises to two spades.

It is up to you again, with:
♠ K 9 7 2
♥ A 8 7
♦ 8 7 5
♣ K J 4

What do you say?

Answer: Bid 2 NT.

You have 11 points in high cards, and partner may have 15 points, which would give you a play for game.

Partner can accept the invitation by bidding 3 NT or by jumping to game in spades. He can decline the invitation by passing, or by bidding three diamonds or three spades.

Cost of highway construction has risen more than 13 per cent over the 1957-59 averages, the Bureau of Public Roads said.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

The Only Black Point Grocery Store Bought By Balzarinis

Black Point's only grocery store, Bill's Station on Harbor Drive, has been purchased from William and Pearl King by John and Olo Balzarini, and appropriately is now known as John and Ola's Station.

The new owners, former Marin residents, recently returned here from Oregon where they have operated a ranch for the past year. Balzarini was previously a mechanic with the Tacchi Bros. garage in San Rafael for many years.

The Kings have retired and are continuing to live in Black Point.

ANOTHER Baskin-Robbins 31 Flavors Ice Cream Store will be opened in the Downtown Shopping Center at Grant Avenue and Seventh Street, Novato. The company now has outlets in San Rafael and San Anselmo.

A NEW BAKERY SITE is being sought by Mrs. Mary Harkins of Mill Valley for her booming business in popovers.

Heretofore they have been baked and packaged at her restaurant El Paseo as a sort of sideline, but the secondary operation now appears to be headed for lead position. The merchandising stage has now been reached where increased production is essential. Mrs. Harkins not only has popovers on the shelves of local markets but in the city. A good part of her output is being handled by United Grocers of California with distribution from Fresno to Willits and points in between.

Idea is to separate restaurant and popovers so both can be continued without giving up one or the other.

NORTHGATE SHOPPING CENTER has three separate units and three separate owners. All were originally enterprises of the Draper Companies.

Unit one (the first section built and first sold by Draper) is now owned by the Howard Enterprises. Unit three is under construction by the owner, Pacific Bridge Co.

But there is no longer a "Unit Two." Owner here, the M and T Corp. of San Francisco, doesn't care for numerical designation and asks that it be referred to as the "Fashion Mall," so named because of the major apparel, footwear and style shops that make up the preponderance of occupants.

So be it. Fashion Mall it is—anything to please.

PETER C. ROBERTSON of Belvedere has been appointed assistant trust investment officer at Crocker-Citizens National Bank's San Francisco trust department. He joined the bank in 1964 as an account manager in the trust investment department.

Robertson

ARNOLD LUSTIG, Marin County representative for Royal Supply Co., San Francisco hotel, bar and restaurant supply firm, is recuperating from a mild heart seizure at Mt. Zion Hospital and expects to return to work in about five weeks.

MRS. BETTY WASLEY of Greenbrae has been appointed advertising and public relations director for Frank Howard Allen and Co., Marin real estate firm. She was formerly assistant to Kay Noah's advertising and publicity firm in Belvedere.

MARIN COUNTY has over 2,000 motor-driven cycles and owners may be interested in the first International Sports Cycle Show, which will be presented for four days beginning Dec. 15 at Brooks Hall in the Civic Center, San Francisco. Worldwide manufacturers and distributors of cycles and accessories will have displays.

All-Time High

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. — Anchor Coupling Co., Inc., consolidated sales reached an all-time high of $34,972,091 in the fiscal year ended June 30, up $5,728,853 or 19.6 per cent from the previous year.

Question On What Interest Rates Will Do

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman has raised a question plaguing both the government monetary authorities and the stock market: Will rising interest rates halt inflation or will they bring on a sharp deflation or even depression?

So far, tight money has provided more questions than answers. The few facts to date are:

1. Prices have continued to climb even as interest rates soared to a 40-year high, and the pace of the price increases has increased;

2. Demand for business and consumer loans and plans for business expansion continue high despite the rising cost of borrowing;

3. Credit shortages have sent the home building industry into a tailspin and raised the cost to the consumer of many other purchases;

4. The bears have had a field day in the stock market, partly because of the fear of deflation of the boom, and partly because high interest rates have sent investors looking elsewhere for bigger returns on their money.

To all this the money managers reply that the effects of tighter money will become visible this fall and winter and that only then will the country realize that a runaway speculative boom has been prevented.

As president, Truman fought for low interest rates. And now he charges once again that "a drastic rise in interest rates works a hardship on the consuming public. It only benefits the privileged few."

SHARP RISE

What the business community and members of Congress have been debating, however, is whether the sharp rise in interest rates since last December has accomplished what it was supposed to: halt what appeared to be the start of a speculative boom.

The stock market's big plunge would seem to say that speculation has been nipped. The uneasiness in business circles about the outlook for the economy — and especially for profits — in 1967 might seem to say that tight money was acting as a curb.

Jumpy Stock Market Is Up, Down And Up

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today in a hectic, up-and-down session. Trading was heavy.

Prices rose at the start but by noon they had turned mixed. Shortly afterwards the market was down sharply as profits were taken.

The list rallied again in the afternoon. This time the rise won more sustained support.

In late dealings, Polaroid was up about 13, IBM 12 and Eastern Air Lines 7.

Other glamor stocks also made wide strides.

Gains of a point or so were made by such blue chips as General Motors and Du Pont.

Sperry Rand, very actively traded , rebounded more than 2 points.

Volume for the day was estimated at 11.5 million shares compared with 10.89 million Monday.

The market rallied in the morning, lost its steam and was down by mid-session, then recovered and edged higher on balance.

Glamor stocks were in the forefront. Many showed gains of half a dozen points.

Gains of fractions to a point or so among blue chips predominated late in the session.

Up 6 or more were Eastern Air Lines and Motorola. Gains of 4 or more were scored by Xerox (ex dividend), U.S. Smelting and KLM Airlines.

Ahead about 3 were Itek, Northwest Airlines, Fairchild Camera, Raytheon, Phelps Dodge and Lorillard.

Gains of 1 or 2 points were made by General Motors, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Radio Corp., Control Data, Chesapeake & Ohio, Standard Oil (New Jersey), J. Ray McDermott, Scientific Data, G.D. Searle, Grolier and General Instrument.

United Aircraft and Du Pont were off about 2, Texas Gulf Sulphur about 1½.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange continued generally higher.
